Germany Celebrates What is Deemed a Great Achievement—Dutch Brand Attack as Fiendish—Touching Scenes Accompany Sinking of Floating Palace—"Don't Rock the Boat," Warns Senator Stone.

The latest available information indicates that about two-thirds of the persons on board the Lusitania lost their lives. The number of passengers is given by the Cunard steamship representatives in New York as 1,254, and of the crew as 665, a total of 1,919. The number of survivors now accounted for is 703. This indicates a death list of 1,216. Hopes that the list of persons saved may be materially increased were dashed by an announcement from the British Admiralty that all but one of the rescue fleet, which put out from Queenstown, had reported and that there was little prospect of news of further survivors. Nevertheless, inquiries are being made all along the coast in the hope that other rescues may have been made. Of the 290 first class passengers it is now believed only 76 were saved. No word has been received of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and many of the prominent men who were aboard.

By Associated Press. London, May 8.—1500 persons lost their lives, the British Admiralty estimates, when the Cunard Line steamship Lusitania was torpedoed yesterday afternoon off Old Head Kinsale, on the Irish coast. The known survivors number only 658, while there were 2,160 souls aboard the great liner when she was attacked. Of those who were saved 595 were landed at Queenstown, and 11 at Kinsale, while 52 others are reported to be aboard a steamer. All but one of the rescue fleet of torpedo boats, tugs and trawlers, which went out from Queenstown, have reported. There is slender hope that fishing boats may have rescued a few more. In addition to the living brought ashore, the bodies of 45, who died of injuries or were drowned, have been landed at Queenstown. It has been reported that an armed trawler, accompanied by two fishing boats, has picked up 100 others. Apparently few first cabin passengers were among the survivors. The United States consul at Queenstown can account for only 51 Americans saved out of 188 who were aboard. His roll does not include the names of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Charles Frohman, Elbert Hubbard, Justus M. Forman, the author, or Charles Klein, the playwright. Herbert S. Stone, a son of Melville E. Stone, of the Associated Press, has not been accounted for. Of the Americans aboard, 106 were in the first cabin, 65 in the second and 17 in the steerage. The heavy loss of life among the first cabin passengers is believed to have been due to the calmness and self possession they displayed in face of danger.

There is no evidence, however, that the time honored rule of the sea, "women and children first," was violated. One of the survivors declares there was no panic among the crew, and that the sailors acted promptly. Apparently every precaution had been taken against a surprise attack by a submarine. Difficulty was experienced in launching the life boats because of the heavy list after the vessel was torpedoed. Several of the frail craft evidently capsized. Many of the passengers owe their rescue to life belts. Investigation has failed to reveal that the steamer was given warning of the proposed attack by the submarine. The lookouts sighted the periscope of a submersible a thousand yards away. Then came a terrific crash as the torpedo pierced the liner's side, followed almost immediately by another, which littered the decks with wreckage. The course of the liner was at once turned toward shore. Four torpedoes apparently were fired at the Lusitania, but only two of them found their mark. The loss of life caused by the torpedoes themselves, and the explosions they caused, must have been terribly heavy, as the bodies taken to Queenstown show evidence of the havoc wrought. Many of those taken ashore were seriously injured, and many died after they were removed to hospitals. No event of the war has caused such intense excitement in London. The press of London expresses intense indignation at the tragedy.

WILSON ORDERS INVESTIGATION

By Associated Press. Washington, May 8.—The United States government will today direct Ambassador Gerard to make inquiry of the German government for its report of the facts concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. This became known after conferences between high officials. The ambassador will be instructed to make his preliminary inquiry as a basis for whatever steps may eventually be taken. High officials privately say the situation was very grave.

88 VESSELS IN WAR ZONE

By Associated Press. New York, May 8.—Eighty-eight vessels, bound to or from American ports, were today within the German war zone. Thirteen of them were carrying passengers.

THE LUSITANIA

The Lusitania, the sister ship to the Mauretania of the Cunard Line, was 790 feet long and 85 feet broad. She had a displacement of 45,000 tons. The boat was one of the hand-somest and fastest liners afloat and until the Mauretania was launched, held the record for speed. The Lusitania was built in Glasgow in 1906, at enormous expense. The vessel was pronounced by her builders to be as near unsinkable as it was possible to build a boat. The lower hull was divided into 175 water-tight compartments. Her engines had a horse-power of 70,000, and she had four driving shafts, each carrying a three-bladed propeller. The vessel was owned by the Cunard Steamship Company, of Liverpool, England, and flew the English flag.

"We are informing ourselves as rapidly as possible regarding the Lusitania matter," said Secretary Bryan today, "and we are doing what we can for those injured. We will get all the information that we can."

GRAVITY IS FULLY REALIZED

Washington, May 8.—Shocked and appalled by the tragic aspect of the Lusitania disaster, as hourly developments disclosed its magnitude and far reaching possibilities, with a probable loss of 137 American lives, President Wilson and his advisers are waiting for all the facts, and for a crystallization of public opinion to aid in laying out the course the United States will pursue in this latest international complication—the gravest the president has faced since the outbreak of the war.

Nowhere in administration circles is there any disposition to minimize the situation, but President Wilson, while seeking the facts, hopes the country will assume an examining attitude and reserve full judgment until all complete information is at hand.

As more details began coming in activities at the White House and in the executive departments of the government disclosed how much administration officials realized the tenseness of the situation.

Secretary Bryan cabled Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to informally ask the German government for its report of the disaster, and to Ambassador Page at London he sent messages urging renewed efforts to aid the suffering and gather information.

Chairman Stone, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, issued a statement counseling calmness and advising "don't rock the boat."

He pointed out that qualifying circumstances must be taken into consideration because the Lusitania was a belligerent vessel.

ALL GERMANY IS REJOICING

London, May 8.—The Exchange Telegraph Company has received today the following telegram from Copenhagen: "Berlin newspapers print the news of the sinking of the Lusitania in colossal type, and hail the successful torpedoing of the ship as a new triumph for Germany's naval policy. 'The general impression is that England has got what she deserves.'"

By Associated Press. New York, May 8.—The Cunard Line officers were besieged today with calls for information about the Lusitania disaster. Among the survivors were D. A. A report was denied that there had been any explosives, ammunition or inflammable material on the ship. The vessel was valued at about $10,000,000, the cargo at about $735,000 and the insurance is said to amount to $7,500,000.

The new German submarines of the largest type carry six torpedo tubes and might do this.

No official statement is ready at this time, but it said the German warnings against sailing in British ships did not obviate the necessity of the Germans giving adequate warning to the Lusitania, a merchant vessel, before torpedoing her, in order that the passengers could have an opportunity to take to the small boats.

Among the passengers were the following: Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hubbard, David A. Thomas, a multimillionaire coal mine owner of Wales; Lady Max-worth, and a few titled passengers; Charles Frohman, John De War and son, Charles Klein, a well known American playwright; fifty-one representatives of Canadian firms supply-ing England with war material, and at least 100 British regiments, who were going to join the colors.

Survivors of the Lusitania who have arrived at Queenstown estimate that only about 650 of those aboard the steamer were saved, and only a small proportion of those rescued were saloon passengers.

ALFRED VANDERBILT REPORTED DROWNED

London, May 8.—Some of the sur-vivors who have arrived here report that Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Amer-ican millionaire, was drowned.

FINANCIAL LOSS IS ENORMOUS

New York, May 8.—The tremendous financial loss incurred by the sinking of the Lusitania, it is generally be-lieved, will fall upon the Cunard com-pany and the British government. Officials at the company's offices here estimated the amount of insurance carried on the liner at sums ranging from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, the gen-eral belief being that at the time of the announcement by Admiral Von Tirpitz of the proposed German block-ade the British government took over about 80 per cent of the total amount. The balance, according to those in touch with the workings of the big company, is covered by a general sinking fund established some years ago by the company, into which a large amount of the company's earn-ings is put each year.

LUSITANIA HIT BY 2 TORPEDOES

Queenstown, May 8.—The tug Storm-cock has returned here, bringing about 150 survivors of the Lusitania, principally passengers, among whom were many women, several of the crew and one steward. Describing the experience of the Lusitania, the steward said:

"The passengers were at lunch when a submarine came up and fired two torpedoes, which struck the Lusitania on the starboard side, one forward and the other in the engine room. They caused terrific explosions. Captain Turner immediately ordered the boats out. The ship began to list badly immediately. Ten boats were put into the water and between 400 and 500 passengers entered them. The boat in which I was approached the land with three other boats, and were picked up shortly after 4 o'clock by the Stormcock. I fear that few of the officers were saved. They acted bravely. There was only fifteen minutes from the time the ship was struck until she foundered, going down bow foremost. It was a dread-ful sight."

OHIO MAN WAS ON LUSITANIA

Columbus, May 8.—Edward Bar-chard of this city was a passenger on the Lusitania, which sank off the Irish coast.

AMMUNITION IN HER CARGO

New York, May 8.—One of the items of the Lusitania's cargo was ammunition, valued at $200,024. The ship carried 5,471 cases of cartridges and ammunition, according to the ship's manifest. The Lusitania had a cargo of 1,200 tons, which is practi-cally all she could carry. Its value was put at $850,000. Included in her manifest are the following items: Sheet brass, 260,000 pounds, valued at $49,565; cop-per, 11,762 pounds, valued at $20,955; copper wire, 58,465 pounds, valued at $11,000; 349 packages of furs, valued at $119,220; military goods, 189 pack-ages, valued at $66,221; 89 cases of leather, valued at $31,517, and 342,165 pounds of beef, valued at $30,995.

"ACT OF PIRACY" SAYS ROOSEVELT

U. S. WANTS THE FACTS

Syracuse, N. Y., May 8.—Colonel Roosevelt characterized the sinking of the Lusitania as "an act of piracy."

"It seems inconceivable," he added, "that we can refrain from taking ac-tion in this matter, for we owe it not only to humanity, but to our own na-tional self-respect."

Washington, May 8.—It was an-nounced in official circles that no comment would be made by President Wilson or members of his cabinet on the torpedoing of the liner Lusitania until all the facts had been laid be-fore them.

While the United States in its po-tent to Germany has insisted that before any vessels with neutral and non-combatants aboard were sunk, pas-sengers must be removed to a place of safety, no case had risen until the wrecking of the Gulfight last Satur-day.

Should any Americans lose their lives the case would be covered, of-ficials thought, by the warning to Ger-many that she would be held in that event by the United States "to a strict accountability."

HALF THE PASSENGERS ARE REPORTED SAVED

London, May 8.—The American em-bassy has been informed that about half of the Lusitania's passengers have been saved. The embassy has also been informed that the Lusitania foundered eighteen minutes after she was torpedoed.

REPUBLICAN EDITORS MEET

Columbus, May 8.—For the purpose of securing wider publicity for the achievements, policies and principles of the Republican party, the Ohio Re-publican Editorial association was formed at a meeting of publishers and editors here. No particular candi-date is to be boosted. Seventy-seven Republican newspapers were repre-sented.

Officers were elected as follows: Merritt C. Speidel, Piqua Call, presi-dent; Samuel G. McClure, Youngs-town Telegram, vice president; John H. Shearer, Marysville Tribune, sec-retary; James R. Hopley, Bucyrus Tel-egraph, treasurer, and executive com-mittee: Charles D. Simeral, Steuben-ville Herald-Star; George A. Stuffer, Ottawa Gazette, and E. G. Burkam, Dayton Journal, and the president and secretary.

An advisory board was appointed by the president.

Addresses were delivered by Sena-tor Harding, Colonel Perry and Mr. Simeral.

RETREAT OF RUSSIANS IS BLOCKED

London, May 8.—According to the latest advices from Vienna, strong Austrian forces have cut through to the rear of Russian troops in the western passes of the Carpathians and are blocking the retreat of irreg-ular columns. These dispatches claim Austro-German troops have crossed the Wisloka river, east of the Dunajec, and have penetrated south of Jaslo, where the Russians are fight-ing desperately to escape, pressed on the rear by Austrians pushing through the Beskids.

Petrograd advices, however, while conceding a measure of success to the Teutonic allies, say these claims are greatly exaggerated. The Russian war office announces a victory in a battle near Stry, in the Carpathians, farther east than the scene of the present main battle.

The battle to decide the mastery of hill No. 60 and the desolated country around Ypros has not yet reached its final stages.

The first attack of the war on Con-stantinople is reported in an unofficial dispatch from Athens. It is said three Russian aviators flew over the city, dropping several bombs. The mes-sage says also that the Russian Black sea fleet bombarded the Turkish forts on the left bank of the Bosphorus. Several Russian shells fell within ten miles of Constantinople.

Reports reaching London from the Dardanelles, while containing no new details of the land fighting, say that the bombardment by the allied fleet of the Turkish fortifications is pro-ceeding successfully. Some of the forts at Canak and Kildil Bahr and probably others on both sides of the straits, up to the narrows, are said to have been silenced.

Hopes that Italy would settle peace-fully her differences with Austria ap-parently are fading as speedily as they were revived a few days ago. The Austrian government is reported to have informed Italy of the extreme concessions it is willing to make, and the Austrians and Germans in Rome are represented as having lost con-fidence in a favorable outcome.

resentatives of Canadian firms supplying England with war material, and at least 100 British regiments, who were going to join the colors.

Survivors of the Lusitania who have arrived at Queenstown estimate that only about 650 of those aboard
the steamer were saved, and only a small proportion of those rescued
were saloon passengers.

ALFRED VANDERBILT REPORTED DROWNED

London, May 8.—Some of the survivors who have arrived here report
that Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, American millionaire, was drowned.

FINANCIAL LOSS IS ENORMOUS

New York, May 8.—The tremendous financial loss incurred by the sinking of the Lusitania, it is generally believed, will fall upon the Cunard company and the British government.
Officials at the company's offices here estimated the amount of insurance carried on the liner at sums ranging from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, the general belief being that at the time of the announcement by Admiral Von Tirpitz of the proposed German blockade the British government took over about 80 per cent of the total amount.
The balance, according to those in touch with the workings of the big company, is covered by a general sinking fund established some years ago by the company, into which a large amount of the company's earnings is put each year.

Queenstown, May 8.—The tug Storm-cock has returned here, bringing about 150 survivors of the Lusitania, principally passengers, among whom were many women, several of the crew and one steward. Describing the experience of the Lusitania, the steward said:

"The passengers were at lunch
when a submarine came up and fired
two torpedoes, which struck the Lusitania on the starboard side, one fore-ward and the other in the engine
room. They caused terrific explosions.
Captain Turner immediately ordered the boats out. The ship began to list badly immediately. Ten boats were put into the water and between 400
and 500 passengers entered them.
The boat in which I was approached the land with three other boats, and
were picked up shortly after 4 o'clock
by the Stormcock. I fear that few of the officers were saved. They acted bravely. There was only fifteen minutes from the time the ship was struck until she foundered, going down bow foremost. It was a dreadful sight."

OHIO MAN WAS ON LUSITANIA

Columbus, May 8.—Edward Bar-
chard of this city was a passenger on the Lusitania, which sank off the Irish coast.

AMMUNITION IN HER CARGO

New York, May 8.—One of the items of the Lusitania's cargo was ammunition, valued at $200,024. The ship carried 5,471 cases of cartridges and ammunition, according to the ship's manifest. The Lusitania had a cargo of 1,200 tons, which is practically all she could carry. Its value was put at $850,000. Included in her manifest are the following items: Sheet brass, 260,000 pounds, valued at $49,555; copper, 11,762 pounds, valued at $20,955;
copper wire, 58,465 pounds, valued at $11,000; 349 packages of furs, valued at $119,220; military goods, 189 packages, valued at $66,221; 89 cases of leather, valued at $31,517, and 342,165
pounds of beef, valued at $30,995.

"ACT OF PIRACY" SAYS ROOSEVELT

Syracuse, N. Y., May 8.—Colonel
Roosevelt characterized the sinking
of the Lusitania as "an act of piracy."
"It seems inconceivable," he added,
"that we can refrain from taking action in this matter, for we owe it not only to humanity, but to our own national self-respect."

U. S. WANTS THE FACTS

Washington, May 8.—It was announced in official circles that no
comment would be made by President Wilson or members of his cabinet on
the torpedoing of the liner Lusitania until all the facts had been laid before them.

While the United States in its note
to Germany has insisted that before any vessels with neutrals and non-combatants aboard were sunk, passengers must be removed to a place of safety, no case had risen until the wrecking of the Gulfight last Saturday.

Should any Americans lose their lives the case would be covered, officials thought, by the warning to Germany that she would be held in that event by the United States "to a strict accountability."

HALF THE PASSENGERS ARE REPORTED SAVED

London, May 8.—The American embassy has been informed that about half of the Lusitania's passengers have been saved. The embassy has also been informed that the Lusitania
foundered eighteen minutes after she was torpedoed.

RETREAT OF RUSSIANS IS BLOCKED

London, May 8.—According to the latest advices from Vienna, strong Austrian forces have cut through to the rear of Russian troops in the western passes of the Carpathians
and are blocking the retreat of irregular columns. These dispatches claim Austro-German troops have crossed the Wisloka river, east of the Dunajec, and have penetrated south of Jaslo, where the Russians are fighting desperately to escape, pressed on the rear by Austrians pushing through the Beskids.

Petrograd advices, however, while conceding a measure of success to the Teutonic allies, say these claims are greatly exaggerated. The Russian war office announces a victory in a battle near Stry, in the Carpathians, farther east than the scene of the present main battle.

The battle to decide the mastery of hill No. 60 and the desolated country around Ypres has not yet reached its final stages.

The first attack of the war on Constantinople is reported in an unofficial dispatch from Athens. It is said three Russian aviators flew over the city, dropping several bombs. The message says also that the Russian Black sea fleet bombarded the Turkish forts
on the left bank of the Bosphorus.
Several Russian shells fell within ten miles of Constantinople.

Reports reaching London from the Dardanelles, while containing no new details of the land fighting, say that the bombardment by the allied fleet
of the Turkish fortifications is proceeding successfully. Some of the forts at Canak and Kilid Bahr and probably others on both sides of the straits, up to the narrows, are said
to have been silenced.

Hopes that Italy would settle peacefully her differences with Austria apparently are fading as speedily as they were revived a few days ago.
The Austrian government is reported to have informed Italy of the extreme concessions it is willing to make, and
the Austrians and Germans in Rome are represented as having lost confidence in a favorable outcome.

The Business Conditions

Notwithstanding the gloomy forebodings for the future and the vigorous denial of the present condition, by the pessimists, business continues to improve everywhere in the nation.

Very slow at first was the progress made toward better business condition but each day during the past six weeks industrial and business conditions have not only continued to improve but each day the "picking up" progress has been in an increasing ratio.

So slight was the first upward turn that few people believe the cheerful announcements which the optimists were constantly giving out.

Here in Washington and Fayette county—an agricultural community—but little of the effect of hard times has been experienced. In the cities and in the industrial centers the hardships following business and industrial paralysis, was of course more marked.

Almost every one of the larger cities is now pushing new work, and labor instead of being unsought is in great demand. In almost every manufacturing plant of the land the full force of employees is working full time and the owners are busily engaged making improvements along the line of increasing the capacity in anticipation of an unprecedented demand which they are certain is right at hand.

With prosperity in the cities and bumper crops the good effect of the return of good times cannot fail to manifest itself very markedly in the agricultural communities.

While we have not suffered, in this locality from hard times, yet we are elected to enjoy better times if we can believe the testimony of men who should know and give credence to the evidence which is on every hand.

A Reactionary Measure

Two years ago the law making body of Ohio was of the opinion that national and state elections should be kept separate as far as possible and, acting in accordance with that opinion, the general assembly of the state enacted a law which provided that the national and state tickets should be printed on separate ballots.

The legislature was right in enacting such a law and that law should not be destroyed by the present administration.

The trend of late years has been away from the old straight ticket idea and a progressive people have demanded that everything possible be done to encourage independent voting; that every law and every bit of election formality which tended to make independent voting difficult should be done away with.

There is no reason why the voters of Ohio, at the quadrennial elections, should be handed a ballot four feet long containing under the one party head on the one party ticket every candidate for office to be voted for from president of the United States on down through the state and county. There is no reason why the ballot in these years should be of such formidable size as to almost compel the voters to cast "straight" tickets and thus force the election of state and county officials who happen to be on the ticket of that party whose candidate for president is in popular favor. The issues—national, state and county—should be kept separate and each ticket should succeed or fail on its own record of performance and promise.

The Hulsvett bill now pending in the senate and already passed by the house repeals the law of two years ago and places all tickets on the same ballot.

The Hulsvett law is a mistake and should be defeated in the senate or if passed by that body should be vetoed by the governor.

The enactment of such a law is a step backward. It is a reactionary measure of the most pronounced type. The intelligent, independent voter should be encouraged, not hampered.

Suffrage For Women Inseparable From Attempt to Create a Democracy

By HENRY CROLY, Editor of the New Republic

THE justification for adult female suffrage rests upon substantially the same ground as the justification for adult male suffrage. A plausible argument can be made on the score of political efficiency for limiting the votes of men by some educational or property qualification, but the same argument would also justify the granting of the suffrage to the same classes of women. IF MERE QUALIFICATIONS FOR VOTING ARE TO BE CONSIDERED DECISIVE EDUCATED OR PROPERTY HOLDING WOMEN HAVE A MUCH BETTER CLAIM ON THE VOTE THAN IGNORANT AND PROPERTY-LESS MEN.

But since the advent of democracy the attempt to limit the exercise of the suffrage to people who would presumably use the privilege with discrimination has been abandoned. Almost all men are allowed to vote, partly because class rule is socially disintegrating, but chiefly because the only way to qualify men for political responsibility is to permit them to exercise it. Almost all women should be allowed to vote for precisely the same reason.

Poetry For Today

MOTHER'S DAY.

If you have a gray-haired mother
In the old home far away,
Sit you down and write the letter
You put off from day to day.
Don't wait until her weary steps
Reach heaven's pearly gate,
But show her that you think of her
Before it is too late.

If you have a tender message,
Or a loving word to say,
Don't wait till you forget it,
But whisper it today,
Who knows what bitter memories
May haunt you if you wait?
So make your loved one happy
Before it is too late.

The tender word unspoken,
The letters never sent,
The long forgotten messages,
The wealth of love unspent;
For these some hearts are breaking,
For these some loved ones wait;
Show them that you care for them
Before it is too late.

Paw—Why, nature gave it a long neck so it could eat from the tops of the trees, my son.

"You can insult my relatives all you please," said Mrs. Gabb, "but you'll have to admit that my brother is a big man."

"He certainly is," agreed Mr. Gabb. "Between the collar bone and the floor he's the biggest man I know of."

Oh, Very Well!

Said a farmer: "While I hate to blow so, I can sow seeds, my friend, and I know so. The right way to sow is to sow in a row. You must sow seeds just so, not just so so."

That's Right.

"Did Hogan have a big wake?" asked O'Brien.

"He did that," replied Clancy. "They tell me the house was crowded for three days and nights."

"I never thought that Hogan was that popular," said O'Brien. "Well, it just shows you that a man never knows how many friends he has until they come to his funeral."

A meeting of an unusual nature occurred in the Douglas inn barber shop Saturday afternoon, when Charles Lansdown, a barber at this shop, introduced Frank Sausser, manager of the Western Union telegraph office, to C. N. Cupp, a tobacco salesman, of Columbus.

This was a good combination for a town where no liquor is to be had, so the new acquaintance was celebrated by drinking a portion of coffee, a beverage with which both were acquainted. Luke McLuke, please copy.—Urban O. Democrat.

Our Daily Special

Too much leading kills more men than too much work.

Luke McLuke Says

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who would rather get married than work for a living.

A woman is often a half hour late getting ready to go out because she is in front of a mirror making up for lost time.

When a bartender is in a hurry making change and says to a man, "Did you give me a nickel or a dime?" and the man replies, "I only gave you a nickel," the man swells up with honest pride and wears an expression that says plainly, "George Washington had nothing on me!"

Our idea of a henpecked husband is one who has to eat a bad egg at the breakfast table because he is afraid to tell his wife that it isn't good.

About all the practice in penmanship some men get is when they sign the pledge every twenty or thirty days.

A wife is a party who can't be convinced that what she doesn't know won't hurt her.

Any red headed girl can look into a mirror and see a wealth of golden tresses.

The wife who leaves her hair in the bedroom dresser and her teeth in a glass of water in the kitchen when she is serving breakfast often wonders why her husband is so much interested in other women.

Some men are so mean that they never quarrel with their wives because it costs so much to make up again.

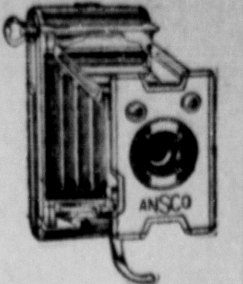

A woman will buy her husband a smoking jacket that looks like a horse blanket with the hives and will get him a little red fez to go with it, and then she wonders why he gets mad when she wants him to sit in his "den" and wear them so she can bring the neighbors in and let them see how happy he is.

Every now and then you will hear a big 200 pound man telling lies to his 125 pound wife over the phone so he can get permission to eat his dinner downtown.

For awhile she thinks that he married her because she is all the world to him. But later on she realizes that he married her because he was too durned stingy to hire a valet.

The easiest mark is the fellow who is always bragging that you can't fool him.

Acute Indigestion.

The quickest remedy for the trouble is water. Drink one tumblerful of water after another as rapidly as possible until six or eight have been taken. This method dislodges the irritating substances in the stomach and causes vomiting and instant relief from the pain and intense nausea. After all the undigested foods have been removed lie down and rest and suck pieces of ice until the stomach is comfortable. A little brandy in ice water, a teaspoonful poured over a few pieces of ice, may be sipped every few minutes to relieve the weakness and while waiting for the doctor to arrive.

NEW RAPID FIRE GUN.

Water Cooled Weapon That Has Been Adopted by Uncle Sam.

After a series of tests the United States army has adopted a water cooled rapid fire gun of the type now in use on the European battlefields. The barrel of the gun is incased in a water jacket to prevent its becoming overheated. This is refilled during heavy firing, but when water is not easily available an apparatus is employed which condenses the steam generated in the jacket and allows the water to be used over and over again.

The gun, which is operated by recoil, has a maximum firing speed of about 500 shots a minute, a somewhat slower speed than the air cooled guns in ordinary use, but the water cooled guns are expected to fire a greater number of shots in a long period because of the saving of the time consumed by the air cooled gun in inserting the short feed strips.

The regulation 30 caliber cartridge is employed, and the range is 1,500 to 1,800 yards. Ammunition is fed into it by a belt which holds 250 rounds, the shells being automatically inserted and ejected as long as pressure is exerted on the trigger.

The gun, which weighs ninety-six pounds, is set on a tripod so constructed as to make the weapon available for use against air craft.—Indianapolis News.

COAL AT PANAMA.

Mammoth Storage Plants Planned For the Canal Route.

Coal storing plants of mammoth magnitude are being planned on the Panama canal route. One of the storage plants is to be situated at Cristobal and another at Balboa.

It is planned to have a coal storage basin at Cristobal with a capacity of 250,000 tons and one at Balboa with a capacity of 100,000 tons. In each place the storage will be within a large basin made of re-enforced concrete, in which approximately half of the coal will be stored under water for use in time of war and the other half above water to be added to and taken from continually for the ordinary uses of commercial and government vessels.

It also is planned if the policy should be approved to be able to lease parts of the storage basin to such private coaling companies as may wish to maintain their own coal stores on the isthmus, but in such cases all of the handling will be done by the government plant, a suitable charge being made for the service.—New York Press.

Two years ago the law making body of Ohio was of the opinion that national and state elections should be kept separate as far as possible and, acting in accordance with that opinion, the general assembly of the state enacted a law which provided that the national and state tickets should be printed on separate ballots.

The legislature was right in enacting such a law and that law should not be destroyed by the present administration.

The trend of late years has been away from the old straight ticket idea and a progressive people have demanded that everything possible be done to encourage independent voting; that every law and every bit of election formality which tended to make independent voting difficult should be done away with.

There is no reason why the voters of Ohio, at the quadrennial elections, should be handed a ballot four feet long containing under the one party head on the one party ticket every candidate for office to be voted for from president of the United States on down through the state and county. There is no reason why the ballot in these years should be of such formidable size as to almost compel the voters to cast "straight" tickets and thus force the election of state and county officials who happen to be on the ticket of that party whose candidate for president is in popular favor. The issues—national, state and county—should be kept separate and each ticket should succeed or fail on its own record of performance and promise.

The Hulsvett bill now pending in the senate and already passed by the house repeals the law of two years ago and places all tickets on the same ballot.

The Hulsvett law is a mistake and should be defeated in the senate or if passed by that body should be vetoed by the governor.

The enactment of such a law is a step backward. It is a reactionary measure of the most pronounced type. The intelligent, independent voter should be encouraged, not hampered.

Suffrage For Women Inseparable From Attempt to Create a Democracy

By HENRY CROLY, Editor of the New Republic

THE justification for adult female suffrage rests upon substantially the same ground as the justification for adult male suffrage. A plausible argument can be made on the score of political efficiency for limiting the votes of men by some educational or property qualification, but the same argument would also justify the granting of the suffrage to the same classes of women. IF MORE QUALIFICATIONS FOR VOTING ARE TO BE CONSIDERED DECISIVE EDUCATED OR PROPERTY HOLDING WOMEN HAVE A MUCH BETTER CLAIM ON THE VOTE THAN IGNORANT AND PROPERTY-LESS MEN.

But since the advent of democracy the attempt to limit the exercise of the suffrage to people who would presumably use the privilege with discrimination has been abandoned. Almost all men are allowed to vote, partly because class rule is socially disintegrating, but chiefly because the only way to qualify men for political responsibility is to permit them to exercise it. Almost all women should be allowed to vote for precisely the same reason.

Poetry For Today

MOTHER'S DAY.

If you have a gray-haired mother.
In the old home far away.
Sit you down and write the letter
You put off from day to day.
Don't wait until her weary steps
Reach heaven's pearly gate,
But show her that you think of her
Before it is too late.

If you have a tender message,
Or a loving word to say,
Don't wait till you forget it,
But whisper it today.
Who knows what bitter memories
May haunt you if you wait?
So make your loved one happy
Before it is too late.

The tender word unspoken,
The letters never sent,
The long forgotten messages,
The wealth of love unspent;
For these some hearts are breaking.
For these some loved ones wait;
Show them that you care for them
Before it is too late.

A meeting of an unusual nature occurred in the Douglas Inn barber shop Saturday afternoon, when Charles Lansdown, a barber at this shop, introduced Frank Sausser, manager of the Western Union telegraph office, to C. N. Cupp, a tobacco salesman, of Columbus.

Our Daily Special

Too much testing kills more men than too much work.

Luke McLuke Says

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who would rather get married than work for a living.

A woman is often a half hour late getting ready to go out because she is in front of a mirror making up for lost time.

When a bartender is in a hurry making change and says to a man, "Did you give me a nickel or a dime?" and the man replies, "I only gave you a nickel," the man swells up with honest pride and wears an expression that says plainly, "George Washington had nothing on me!"

Our idea of a henpecked husband is one who has to eat a bad egg at the breakfast table because he is afraid to tell his wife that it isn't good.

About all the practice in penmanship some men get is when they sign the pledge every twenty or thirty days.

A wife is a party who can't be convinced that what she doesn't know won't hurt her.

Any red headed girl can look into a mirror and see a wealth of golden tresses.

The wife who leaves her hair in the bedroom dresser and her teeth in a glass of water in the kitchen when she is serving breakfast often wonders why her husband is so much interested in other women.

Some men are so mean that they never quarrel with their wives because it costs so much to make up again.

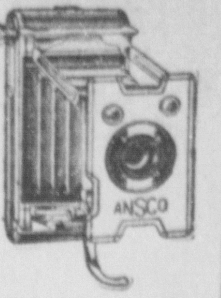

A woman will buy her husband a smoking jacket that looks like a horse blanket with the hives and will get him a little red fez to go with it, and then she wonders why he gets mad when she wants him to sit in his "den" and wear them so she can bring the neighbors in and let them see how happy he is.

For awhile she thinks that he married her because she is all the world to him. But later on he realizes that he married her because he was too darned stingy to hire a valet.

The easiest mark is the fellow who is always bragging that you can't fool him.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Acute Indigestion.

The quickest remedy for the trouble is water. Drink one tumblerful of water after another as rapidly as possible until six or eight have been taken. This method dislodges the irritating substances in the stomach and causes vomiting and instant relief from the pain and intense nausea. After all the indigestible foods have been removed lie down and rest and suck pieces of ice until the stomach is comfortable. A little brandy in ice water, a teaspoonful poured over a few pieces of ice, may be sipped every few minutes to relieve the weakness and while waiting for the doctor to arrive.

NEW RAPID FIRE GUN.

Water Cooled Weapon That Has Been Adopted by Uncle Sam.

After a series of tests the United States army has adopted a water cooled rapid fire gun of the type now in use on the European battlefields. The barrel of the gun is incased in a water jacket to prevent its becoming overheated. This is refilled during heavy firing, but when water is not easily available an apparatus is employed which condenses the steam generated in the jacket and allows the water to be used over and over again.

The gun, which is operated by recoil, has a maximum firing speed of about 500 shots a minute, a somewhat slower speed than the air cooled guns in ordinary use, but the water cooled guns are expected to fire a greater number of shots in a long period because of the saving of the time consumed by the air cooled gun in inserting the short feed strips.

The regulation 30 caliber cartridge is employed, and the range is 1,500 to 1,800 yards. Ammunition is fed into it by a belt which holds 250 rounds, the shells being automatically inserted and ejected as long as pressure is exerted on the trigger.

The gun, which weighs ninety-six pounds, is set on a tripod so constructed as to make the weapon available for use against air craft.—Indianapolis News.

COAL AT PANAMA.

Mammoth Storage Plants Planned For the Canal Route.

Coal storing plants of mammoth magnitude are being planned on the Panama canal route. One of the storage plants is to be situated at Cristobal and another at Balboa.

It is planned to have a coal storage basin at Cristobal with a capacity of 250,000 tons and one at Balboa with a capacity of 100,000 tons. In each place the storage will be within a large basin made of re-enforced concrete, in which approximately half of the coal will be stored under water for use in time of war and the other half above water to be added to and taken from continually for the ordinary uses of commercial and government vessels.

It also is planned if the policy should be approved to be able to lease parts of the storage basin to such private coal-ing companies as may wish to maintain their own coal stores on the isthmus, but in such cases all of the handling will be done by the government plant, a suitable charge being made for the service.—New York Press.

G. A. R. POSTS AND SONS OF VETERANS ENJOY PROGRAM

The Ladies of the G. A. R. achieved noteworthy success in the entertainment at Memorial Hall Friday night, giving to the veterans of the B. H. Millikan and John M. Bell Posts and to the Sons of Veterans one of the most delightful evenings of the year. The pleasure of the guests of honor was shared by a large turnout of citizens.

The program presented one entertaining number after another. Miss Forest Allen, an extremely popular reader, was encored again and again, responding with the utmost generosity, her repertoire chiefly of humorous readings thoroughly delightful.

Her first reading, James Whitcomb Riley's "Old Soldier," made special appeal to the comrades.

Miss Allen had brought with her from Milledgeville six little girls, Jane Allen, Hope Cush, Sylvia Cush, Oleva East, Elizabeth Adams, Iris Coil, who gave a very beautiful fairy drill.

Costumed in airy gauze, with butterfly wings, waving hoops of roses, the little girls were graceful and pretty in folk dances and fancy steps.

A fine male quartet, Rev. A. W. West, Messrs J. H. Hicks, E. H. Burch, Herbert Davenport, sang several times. Their rendition of "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground," following "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," was especially affecting.

A beautiful number was "Annie Laurie," sung by Miss Ada Woodward, with violin obligato by Miss Kneisley, Miss Ruth Reid accompanist. Miss Mary Edge added a brilliant piano solo to the program.

Chaplain Near dismissed the assembly.

Miss Ruth Reid and Edith Worthington acted as ushers, escorting the Posts and Sons of Veterans to honor seats.

The entertainment was under the management of Miss Mary Robinson, president of the Ladies Circle and the entertaining committee, Mrs. Arthur Burgett, chairman.

Attorney Levi Shepler.

Attorney Levi Shepler, former well known Fayette county school teacher who is now engaged in the practice of law at Newport, Kentucky, was a business visitor in this city Saturday, and went to Good Hope to spend over Sunday with his mother.

Mr. Shepler is climbing rapidly in his profession in Newport, his marked ability winning him ready recognition.

WASHINGTON HIGH GETS NINE POINTS

Coach McClung's High school athletes secured nine points at the big interscholastic field meet at Wilmington Friday afternoon, ranging comfortably ahead of the tail enders and showing well against the larger schools, which topped out the first places. Fourteen high schools took part in the meet.

Owing to the heavy rain, which continued almost up to the time of the beginning of the meet at 1:15 p. m., the condition of the Wilmington fair ground track, where the track events were to have been held, rendered its use impossible and these events were held on an improvised course on the grass inside the track circle. Even here the ground was soggy and rendered all events difficult.

Chillicothe High school took first honors.

The feature contestant in the local group was Duff, who finished a close second in the half mile. When the tape was reached observers say Duff was by far the freshest runner of the bunch. The winner of this race collapsed at the tape and another some yards from the finish.

Gregg and Johnson did the rest of Washington's scoring which was as follows: Duff, second in half mile; Gregg, third in high jump and fourth in pole vault; Johnson, third in hammer throw and fourth in low hurdles.

POISON WEEDS KILLING CATTLE

During the past few days some eight head of cattle have died on the farm of Mrs. Dill, south of Jeffersonville, as a result of poisoning due to some weed growing along the banks of Paint creek.

The cattle have died in convulsions of the most horrible kind, and their death has led to a careful investigation by a number of veterinarians, with the result that it was agreed that death was due to poison obtained from the deadly weeds along the creek on the Dill farm.

The death of the animals has attracted considerable attention in that community, owing to the unusual nature of their affliction. Steps have been taken to prevent further losses among the big herd on the Dill farm.

ANOTHER WILL TAYLOR DISCOVERED IN HOLLAND

Another jumper, who is believed to have a very good chance of rivaling Will Taylor, has been discovered in New Holland in the personality of Joe Monthith, 19, son of Mrs. John Monthith of that place.

Monthith, at the instance of friends, began training at the local Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning under the direction of Physical Director McClung, who trained Will Taylor, world champion leaper hailing from the same neighborhood as Monthith.

Monthith is being trained along the same line as Taylor and takes to the high jump even better than the champion did when he began. He is also going to make some very good marks in the broad jump.

Director McClung unhesitatingly states that Monthith shows all the promise Taylor did when he started training and expresses the opinion that Monthith will develop into a very worthy contemporary of Taylor.

Monthith's ability was first demonstrated in school athletics at New Holland and it was these exhibitions that brought his friends to a recognition of his promise.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

A meeting of the Senior class was held early in the week at which Supt. McClain outlined the commencement exercises. An effort is being made to secure Mr. Glen Frank from North Western University to deliver the class address. The Seniors are practicing the class song for Commencement. This is a good song and quite appropriate to the occasion. It was written by the class poet, Miss Elizabeth Snider.

A great number of High school students attended the track meet at Wilmington Friday. Among those that received medals were Duff, Johnson and Gregg.

The Seniors have chosen for their motto the musical scale—B sharp, B natural and never B flat.

The remaining slabs of the frieze of the Partheon have arrived and will be hung in the assembly hall. This completes the frieze. It was purchased by the three preceding Freshmen classes.

The Textor Girls comprise one of the strongest woman baseball teams enour.

SNAPPY FIELD MEET HELD AT NEW HOLLAND

One of the fastest field meets held in this vicinity recently was that at New Holland Friday afternoon and in which eight Pickaway county high schools took part. Ashville finished first with 35½ points, away ahead of its nearest competitor, Madison township, which finished with 14. New Holland and Atlanta failed to score.

Secretary Walter Patton of the local Y. M. C. A. and Earl Peterson officiated at the meet.

The contests were keen throughout, the work of Patterson, of Commercial Point, and Elbert and Hegley of Ashville being the most conspicuous.

The schools taking part and the order of their scoring follow: Ashville, 35½; Madison township, 14; Commercial Point, 12½; Darbyville, 3; Jackson township, 3; Williamsport, 3; New Holland, Atlanta.

Eight hundred persons attended the contests which were held on the New Holland high school campus.

WASHINGTON HIGH GETS NINE POINTS

Coach McClung's High school athletes secured nine points at the big interscholastic field meet at Wilmington Friday afternoon, ranging comfortably ahead of the tail enders and showing well against the larger schools, which copped out the first places. Fourteen high schools took part in the meet.

Owing to the heavy rain, which continued almost up to the time of the beginning of the meet at 1:15 p. m., the condition of the Wilmington fair ground track, where the track events were to have been held, rendered its use impossible and these events were held on an improvised course on the grass inside the track circle. Even here the ground was soggy and rendered all events difficult.

Chillicothe High school took first honors.

The feature contestant in the local group was Duff, who finished a close second in the half mile. When the tape was reached observers say Duff was by far the freshest runner of the bunch. The winner of this race collapsed at the tape and another some yards from the finish.

Gregg and Johnson did the rest of Washington's scoring which was as follows: Duff, second in half mile; Gregg, third in high jump and fourth in pole vault; Johnson, third in hammer throw and fourth in low hurdles.

POISON WEEDS KILLING CATTLE

During the past few days some eight head of cattle have died on the farm of Mrs. Dill, south of Jeffersonville, as a result of poisoning due to some weed growing along the banks of Paint creek.

The cattle have died in convulsions of the most horrible kind, and their death has led to a careful investigation by a number of veterinarians, with the result that it was agreed that death was due to poison obtained from the deadly weeds along the creek on the Dill farm.

The death of the animals has attracted considerable attention in that community, owing to the unusual nature of their affliction. Steps have been taken to prevent further losses among the big herd on the Dill farm.

ANOTHER WILL TAYLOR DISCOVERED IN HOLLAND

Another jumper, who is believed to have a very good chance of rivaling Will Taylor, has been discovered in New Holland in the personality of Joe Montith, 19, son of Mrs. John Montith of that place.

Montith, at the instance of friends, began training at the local Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning under the direction of Physical Director McClung, who trained Will Taylor, world champion leaper hailing from the same neighborhood as Montith.

Montith is being trained along the same line as Taylor and takes to the high jump even better than the champion did when he began. He is also going to make some very good marks in the broad jump.

Director McClung unhesitatingly states that Montith shows all the promise Taylor did when he started training and expresses the opinion that Montith will develop into a very worthy contemporary of Taylor.

Montith's ability was first demonstrated in school athletics at New Holland and it was these exhibitions that brought his friends to a recognition of his promise.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

A meeting of the Senior class was held early in the week at which Supt. McClain outlined the commencement exercises. An effort is being made to secure Mr. Glen Frank from North Western University to deliver the class address. The Seniors are practicing the class song for Commencement. This is a good song and quite appropriate to the occasion. It was written by the class poet, Miss Elizabeth Snider.

A great number of High school students attended the track meet at Wilmington Friday. Among those that received medals were Duff, Johnson and Gregg.

The Seniors have chosen for their motto the musical scale—B sharp, B natural and never B flat.

The remaining slabs of the frieze of the Partheon have arrived and will be hung in the assembly hall. This completes the frieze. It was purchased by the three preceding Freshmen classes.

SNAPPY FIELD MEET HELD AT NEW HOLLAND

One of the fastest field meets held in this vicinity recently was that at New Holland Friday afternoon and in which eight Pickaway county high schools took part. Ashville finished first with 35½ points, away ahead of its nearest competitor, Madison township, which finished with 14. New Holland and Atlanta failed to score.

Secretary Walter Patton of the local Y. M. C. A. and Earl Peterson officiated at the meet.

The contests were keen throughout, the work of Patterson, of Commercial Point, and Elbert and Hegley of Ashville being the most conspicuous.

The schools taking part and the order of their scoring follow: Ashville, 35½; Madison township, 14; Commercial Point, 12½; Darbyville, 3; Jackson township, 3; Williamsport, 3; New Holland, Atlanta.

Eight hundred persons attended the contests which were held on the New Holland high school campus.

BIG BIBLE CLASSES MAY MEET TOGETHER

The proposal will probably be placed before the men's local class tomorrow morning and the question decided. The first two Sundays in June have been suggested for the union meeting of the classes.

BIG BIBLE CLASSES MAY MEET TOGETHER

During a recent visit in this city, Rev. Swinehart, of the men's big Bible class in Greenfield, suggested that the Men's class of Grace M. The proposal will probably be placed before the men's local class tomorrow morning and the question decided. The first two Sundays in June have been suggested for the union meeting of the classes.

LICENSE BILL GETS THROUGH UPPER HOUSE

Columbus, May 8.—The McDermott liquor license decentralizer and the Fleming students' voting bill were passed by the senate.

The three Cincinnati senators refused to support either measure and the administration won only by a bare majority. The vote on the McDermott bill was 17 to 15 and on the Fleming bill 17 to 16. Senator Lynch, Democrat, of Toledo, was absent when the vote on the McDermott bill was taken. The administration was successful only after being able to swing Moore of Jefferson, Wise of Stark and Carson of Muskingum in line. The Stark county solon was the last to break away from the Cincinnati liberals.

Senator Collins succeeded in obtaining the adoption of one amendment, requiring that a saloonkeeper must be convicted twice before his license can be revoked. This complies with the constitutional provision.

Those who voted for the McDermott bill were Archer, Carson, Cass, Gallagher, Garver, Howard, McDermott, Mallow, Moore, Myers, Stone, Tremper, Vollenweider, Vorhies, Wickline, Winans and Wise. The vote on the Fleming student voting bill was the same as on the McDermott measure.

That the McDermott bill will have hard sledding in the house, unless the unforeseen should happen and the Cincinnati delegation line up for it, is conceded by the administration.

Loaded down with amendments, the big Cass highway bill was passed by the house by vote of 79 to 13. The house refused to accept the bill's redistribution of the state highway fund, half to main market roads and half to intercounty roads, but restored the percentages in the present law, 25 per cent to market roads and 75 per cent to intercounty roads.

Amendments were made to make it clear that the highway tax is outside the 15 mill limit, to give state aid to improvement of village streets that are parts of state roads; to increase the salary of the secretary of the highway department from $1,800 to $2,000; to cut out the necessity for approval by the state highway commissioner of the granting of interurban railroad, telephone or other franchise on a state improved road; to limit special assessments to one-third the value of the abutting property, and to require the erection of white painted fences along curves on hill roads.

The official congressional gerrymander, fathered by Representative Sprague of Scioto, was introduced in the house. It would make six Democratic districts, the Third, Fourth, Ninth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Twenty-first, and fifteen Republican districts, with the Twelfth, Franklin county, classed as doubtful. Strong effort will be made to pass the gerrymander next week.

A new civil service bill, bearing the imprint of the approval of Governor Willis, was reported by the joint conference committee, which rejected in toto the Barnes-Moore bill. It is a more conservative measure than the one it supersedes. It puts back under civil service protection the employees of state institutions. Teachers in state institutions, as all teachers, are exempted from the classified service also such employees of the Wooster experiment station as the commission may find it impracticable to classify. Police and fire chiefs specifically are placed under civil service and are given an appeal from an order of dismissal, both to the city commission and from it to the common pleas court. Every civil service appointee in the state service is given an appeal to the commission. The bill abolishes the tenure of those holding by non competitive examination, except those who have been in the state service for seven years.

PRICES MELTED AWAY ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, May 8.—One of the wildest crashes in the history of the stock exchange, not equaled in lightning suddenness and staggering severity since the Northern Pacific panic of 1901, occurred when Wall street heard the news of the sinking of the Lusitania. Just as suddenly as prices had melted away in the first forty minutes of near-panic strain, the decline was halted, the tide switched about and a concentrated, confident buying movement started that continued during the remainder of the session. The session closed with half of the losses of the crash made up. Bethlehem steel dropped from 159 to 130, but recovered half its total loss.

Wall street operators are of the opinion that the effect financially of the sharp decline in stock values will not change the decidedly improved fundamentals in the financial position of the country, though it would and should retard the overzealous speculation, especially in the much overdone "war order" stocks that has marked the stock trading of the last month.

Bowser's Bargains

He Aids a Man Who Wanted to Pay His Debts.

By M. QUAD.
Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

It was a quiet evening in the Bowser sitting room, with the family cat purring in three languages and Mr. Bowser lingering over the end of his cigar and reading the paper, when there came a ring at the bell. Mr. Bowser answered it in person, as he was expecting a neighbor to call, and as he opened the door he found a rather seedy, middle aged man waiting to say to him:

"My dear sir, I want a moment's conversation with you on a strictly business affair."

He was admitted in a grudging way, and, bringing a rueful smile to his face and speaking in confidential tones, he continued:

"After fifteen years of hard work I have made a failure in business. I could swindle my customers or go into bankruptcy, but my conscience will not permit me. I wish to pay dollar for dollar. To do so I must sacrifice everything, even to my wife's jewels. Here is a diamond ring which I wish to get rid of and turn the money over to a heartless creditor who would even deprive my children of bread. Will you name a price for it?"

"If it's a straight business failure you are not required to sell the shirt off your back," replied Mr. Bowser.

"But it's a matter of conscience, you see. I said I'd pay a hundred cents on the dollar, and I'll do it if I have to go barefoot. Will you show that ring to your wife?"

Mr. Bowser had been gum-gamed two or three times and was rather suspicious, but he took the ring and walked back to the sitting room.

"Don't buy it at any price," said Mrs. Bowser, as she looked at it. "It's probably some snide affair, and the man is no doubt a fraud, who thinks to take advantage of your innocence."

"Do you mean that the man takes me for a fool on sight?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he flushed up.

"Oh, you do? That's you to a dot! Always suspicious and distrustful and hard-hearted. I shall buy the ring."

"Then you'll be swindled!"

"Not if I know it. I shall simply do my duty by helping an honest man out of a hole."

Mr. Bowser went back to the man and found him very reasonable. All he wanted for his wife's birthday ring was $40, and that was only one-third of its cost. It grieved him to part with it, but what was grief compared to integrity or character? As the tears began to appear Mr. Bowser sent him off with $40 in his pocket and returned to Mrs. Bowser to say:

"How you can steel your heart against the cries of humanity the way you do is a wonder to me. You'd doubtless have turned that poor man away with a stab in the back!"

"And saved $40!" she curtly replied.

"Do you mean that this ring isn't worth fully $100?" he blurted.

"I don't believe it's worth $5!"

"Woman, do you take me for a fool?" shouted Mr. Bowser with furious gesture as he danced around and frightened the cat under the piano. "I think I know a man of integrity when I see one. I also think I know a diamond ring from a side of sole leather. By the living jingo, if I had your contemptible spirit I'd go!"

He walked about for a few minutes, breathing hard and perspiring under the collar, and nothing further was said on the subject. The cat gradually recovered her courage, the fire blazed cheerfully, and peace had returned to hover over all, when the bell rang again. Again Mr. Bowser went to the door. It was the man of integrity returned.

"Pray, excuse me," he said as he crowded his way into the hall, "but you were so kind to me about the ring I have returned to show you this watch. I have thought to keep it from my creditors, but conscience stings me. It is a watch that cost me $50, but under the circumstances—"

"Mr. Bowser, will you step here a moment?" interrupted Mrs. Bowser.

He had no intention of buying the watch. He meant to get rid of the man at once, but Mrs. Bowser's interference nettled him and changed his plans. Turning to the man, he said:

"The watch is well worth $50, and I should be glad to give you that sum to help you settle with your creditors, but I have only $15 in my pocket."

"Then I'll take that," sighed the business failure, with a quiver in his voice. "I want to settle a claim at once—tonight—and I know that I shall have at least cold potatoes for breakfast. It grieves me, but—take it along."

Mrs. Bowser called again, but Mr. Bowser passed over the money, patted the man of integrity on the shoulder and closed the door after him. Then he returned to the sitting room, placed watch and ring on the mantel and sat down without a word. After a quarter of an hour of silence Mrs. Bowser went upstairs to keep clear of any further row, and the expected neighbor came in.

"Look here, Bowser. You've been played for a sucker!"

"It can't be!"

"But it can be and is. Those diamonds are nothing but glass, and that ring isn't worth $3! Was Mrs. Bowser here when you bought it?"

"What if she was or wasn't?"

"I—I wanted to help an honest man. As for the watch—"

"Ha, ha, ha!"

"What in thunder do you mean?" demanded Mr. Bowser as his face kept growing paler.

"I'm thinking of the cheek of the man to come back and swindle you a second time. Say, now, but you are dead easy. This watch never cost over $3! Bowser, old man, you've been lambasted for $5 with your eyes wide open. You'd better let Mrs. Bowser deal with such chaps after this."

"But what does she know of such folks?" protested Mr. Bowser.

"A heap more than you do, I should say, if you are so easily taken in. Well, well, I wouldn't have believed it!"

As the situation was somewhat embarrassing the neighbor didn't stay long, and when he had taken his departure Mr. Bowser sat down to chew the bitter cud. He had been chewing for about twenty minutes and wondering how he could get even with Mrs. Bowser when the bell rang, and he made his way to the door and opened it to find the same business failure on the step again.

"You will excuse me, I know," said the man, "but I have a diamond pin I didn't show you. It is a pin my wife gave me on my fortieth birthday, when everything was going well with us. As it is worth $150 I thought I could easily get rid of it among your neighbors for $30 or $40, but I find that I can't. Your exceeding kindness to me and your desire to help me maintain my standard of integrity led me to hope—"

"Come in!" interrupted Mr. Bowser.

The man entered the hall and opened a pasteboard box to reveal a diamond pin reposing on a nest of red cotton.

"You—you have a diamond pin to sell me?" said Mr. Bowser in a strange, hard voice.

"Yes; I thought to keep it from my creditors, but my conscience won't let me. It is worth $150, but owing to circumstances—"

Then Mr. Bowser jumped on him.

The man of integrity was taken by surprise and rolled on the floor, but he soon recovered, and there was a scrap that upset the hall tree, tickled the cat half to death and made the dust fly. It lasted five minutes, and then Mr. Bowser got the door open and "lifted" the man of integrity out into the cold and cruel world and turned to find Mrs. Bowser on the stairs.

"Well?" she queried as he glared at her and puffed like an old engine set going for the fall and winter trade. "Have you gone out of the jewelry business?"

He slowly extended his arm and shook his finger at her and tried to answer back, but his emotions were too great.

"If you have," she continued as she turned and began to ascend, "you'd better lock up and come to bed and let me rub you down with witch hazel!"

"The watch is well worth $50, and I should be glad to give you that sum to help you settle with your creditors, but I have only $15 in my pocket."

"Then I'll take that," sighed the business failure, with a quiver in his voice. "I want to settle a claim at once—tonight—and I know that I shall have at least cold potatoes for breakfast. It grieves me, but—take it along."

Mrs. Bowser called again, but Mr. Bowser passed over the money, patted the man of integrity on the shoulder and closed the door after him. Then he returned to the sitting room, placed watch and ring on the mantel and sat down without a word. After a quarter of an hour of silence Mrs. Bowser went upstairs to keep clear of any further row, and the expected neighbor came in.

"Look here, Bowser. You've been played for a sucker!"

"It can't be!"

"What if she was or wasn't?"

"I—I wanted to help an honest man. As for the watch—"

"Ha, ha, ha!"

"What in thunder do you mean?" demanded Mr. Bowser as his face kept growing paler.

"I'm thinking of the cheek of the man to come back and swindle you a second time. Say, now, but you are dead easy. This watch never cost over $3. Bowser, old man, you've been lambasted for $55 with your eyes wide open. You'd better let Mrs. Bowser deal with such chaps after this."

"But what does she know of such folks?" protested Mr. Bowser.

"A heap more than you do, I should say. If you are so easily taken in. Well, well, I wouldn't have believed it!"

As the situation was somewhat embarrassing the neighbor didn't stay long, and when he had taken his departure Mr. Bowser sat down to chew the bitter cud. He had been chewing for about twenty minutes and wondering how he could get even with Mrs. Bowser when the bell rang, and he made his way to the door and opened it to find the same business failure on the step again.

"You will excuse me, I know," said the man, "but I have a diamond pin I didn't show you. It is a pin my wife gave me on my fortieth birthday, when everything was going well with us. As it is worth $150 I thought I could easily get rid of it among your neighbors for $30 or $40, but I find that I can't. Your exceeding kindness to me and your desire to help me maintain my standard of integrity led me to hope—"

"Come in!" interrupted Mr. Bowser. The man entered the hall and opened a pasteboard box to reveal a diamond pin resting on a nest of red cotton.

"You—you have a diamond pin to sell me?" said Mr. Bowser in a strange, hard voice.

"Yes; I thought to keep it from my creditors, but my conscience won't let me. It is worth $150, but owing to circumstances—"

Then Mr. Bowser jumped on him. The man of integrity was taken by surprise and rolled on the floor, but he soon recovered, and there was a scrap that upset the hall tree, tickled the cat half to death and made the dust fly. It lasted five minutes, and then Mr. Bowser got the door open and "lifted" the man of integrity out into the cold and cruel world and turned to find Mrs. Bowser on the stairs.

"Well?" she queried as he glared at her and puffed like an old engine set going for the fall and winter trade. "Have you gone out of the jewelry business?"

He slowly extended his arm and shook his finger at her and tried to answer back, but his emotions were too great.

"If you have," she continued as she turned and began to ascend, "you'd better look up and come to bed and let me rub you down with witch hazel!"

DUTCH SAY ACT FIENDISH CRIME

Amsterdam, May 8.—"The torpedoing of the Lusitania," says the Telegraph in an editorial, "was a deliberate stage reproduction of the Titanic disaster."

"It was a premeditated crime against a passenger ship on which were 2,500 non-combatants."

"It is no longer outrageous; it has become fiendish. Only the spontaneous joint protest of the entire civilized world, from which Germany has separated herself, can be an answer to this latest provocation."

137 AMERICANS OUT OF 1300 VICTIMS

Queenstown, May 8.—The bodies of victims from the Lusitania are arriving on every incoming boat. The Cunard line warehouse, which is being used as a temporary morgue, already has been filled, and 60 more bodies have been taken to the town hall.

Additional dead lie in hotels and boarding houses, the victims of injuries and exhaustion.

The women landing presented a pitiful appearance. Some were covered only with blankets. Many children were without their parents.

The various craft that yesterday afternoon went out from here to the scene of the Lusitania disaster have reported to Queenstown.

It is now estimated here that 700 will be the outside number of those saved.

The latest rescue boats to arrive are bringing mostly bodies of the dead, picked up from the water at the scene of the disaster.

The dead now here number 124 and many of them are women.

Both men and women rescued haunt the docks, waiting and watching for friends and relatives.

The scene, as the big liner went down, is described by the survivors as heart rending beyond words. Battering for life, the passengers called to relatives and friends and called "good-byes" to each other.

The small boats which had got away from the side of the liner picked up many with life belts or clinging to wreckage, but soon the boats all were crowded. These boats were in turn picked up by rescuing steamers.

In many cases, the only work left for the rescuers to do was to collect the floating bodies of the dead.

ATASCADERO The Chi-Nameled City

Atascadero is a Community City, the project of the American Woman's Republic, University City, Mo. of which Mr. E. G. Lewis is Counselor. The city is to be built for approximately 20,000 residents and all the civic buildings are to be entirely Chi-Nameled.

Its location is midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco on the Southern Pacific Railway, six miles from the sea and 1000 feet above it.

The State Highway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, 18 feet wide and surfaced with asphalt, is being built for 10 miles through the estate.

Atascadero is an ideal, made tangible and practical. The first requirement of this ideal is that it shall be the most desirable place in the whole United States in which to LIVE.

In the light of modern understanding this means on the one hand civic beauty, educational facilities, museums, and all city conveniences and attractions; and on the other hand, the privilege to dwell "close to Nature" in the one spot in all California where Nature is most generous and resourceful.

Atascadero consists of a plot of 23,000 acres which are being laid out in 5 and 10 acre orchards or gardens (according to the nature of the soil), building sites, parks, etc. Within its boundaries are located an Industrial Center, and a Civic Center.

The Civic Center consists of administration buildings costing approximately two and one half million dollars; the finest Opera House in the state of California, a large outdoor stadium, golf links, etc.

The Industrial Center will consist of a variety of buildings suited to the various industries, such as steel construction works, canning, storage, dairying and others.

Nothing but the very best in its line is permitted to pass the board of specialists, to whom is intrusted the gigantic task of working out the Atascadero Ideal. No false economies are allowed to blind their eyes to the future's good.

And only because of the severity of standards by which these officials saw fit to measure all Varnish and Paint products, did the Ohio Varnish Company's Chi-namel and Warren Paint products win recognition and final adoption for the Atascadero buildings.

It is to the credit of the management of Atascadero that their buildings are to be constructed of materials not purchased on price-competition, but on results of endurance contests.

It is estimated that the quantity of paint, varnish, stains, enamels, etc., required for the civic buildings and some 4,000 residences will approximate $300,000 worth.

In consequence of this arrangement, purchasers of homes in Atascadero from all parts of the United States, will benefit from the investigations which resulted in this choice.

The floors will be finished with Chi-Namel hammerproof and waterproof varnish, and woodwork will be stained with the clear non-fading Chi-Namel Penetrating Stains.

Bathrooms and woodwork that is white enameled will remain white (not turn yellow like ordinary white enamel) and can be washed freely with soap and water.

Walls decorated with Chi-Namel Dull Wall Enamel and the new Wipe-out Stencil designs, will excel in artistic beauty, and may be cleaned with ordinary soap and water.

The natural color of cement buildings will be changed to beautiful artistic tints and thoroughly waterproofed with Chi-Namel Cementone. And cement floors may be either enameled with Cementone Enamel or with the Chi-Namel Graining System be made to look like varnished hard wood.

Shingles for roofs or siding, when stained with Chi-Namel Shingle Stain will retain their color, will be free from disagreeable odor, and will be insured against decay for many years.

Atascadero, via Temleton, California May 8, 1914.

Mr. F. M. Clapp,

President, The Ohio Varnish Co.,
8604 Kinsman Road,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Sir:

It gives us pleasure to state to you that after quite exhaustive investigations and tests, we have selected your products — particularly your "Chi-Namel" products—for the interior and exterior finishing of the woodwork of the great buildings in the Civic Center at Atascadero, and will also unhesitatingly recommend them to the several thousand people who will build their homes here.

We could not pay you any higher compliment than to choose your products for the Civic Center buildings, as they will be probably the finest single group of civic buildings that have ever been designed or constructed. While there are many buildings costing more money, yet we believe that this is the first time where all of the great civic center buildings of a community of some 20,000 people have been designed and planned and constructed in one, superb group, and at the same time having special reference to the topography and surrounding environment. The architects, Messrs. Bliss & Faville, of San Francisco, have created in this group a masterpiece of architectural beauty, and before determining on the paints and varnishes to be used in connection with these buildings, very careful and exhaustive inquiry and tests were made and your products were selected.

We will state in this connection that the six buildings of this group will cost approximately two and a half million dollars.

Very truly yours,
COLONY HOLDING CORPORATION
By E. G. Lewis, President.

give notice to the fact that the Robinson Famous Shows are to be seen here on Wednesday of next week. Already the small boy and his elders are happy in anticipating the coming of this mighty tented amusement and its countless wonders.

This season the Robinson Famous Shows have been enlarged in every department, and their greatly augmented list of performers, feature acts and menagerie exhibits made it necessary to add several more railway cars. Today special trains are required to transport the huge tents, ponderous wagons, cages, dens, chariots, tableau cars, elephants, camels, horses, ponies men and women.

In the triple zoological gardens, combined under one vast spread of canvas, are to be found the finest living specimens of rare, strange and curious animals from every quarter of the globe. Prominent in this collection is a full-grown gnu, positively the only one in captivity today captured north of Great Bear Lake, rigging.

Having a head like a horse, with the exception of long horns on it, and feet like a cow, forming one of the funniest and freakiest combinations in animal life. The beast is regarded as sacred by the natives, and not one of them could be induced to aid in its capture. The other exhibits of animal life are equally as rare, making a visit to the Robinson Show menageries of far greater educational value than ever will be gained by the deepest study of all the books at hand on the subject of natural history.

ATASCADERO

The Chi-Nameled City

Atascadero is a Community City, the project of the American Woman's Republic, University City, Mo. of which Mr. E. G. Lewis is Counselor. The city is to be built for approximately 20,000 residents and all the civic buildings are to be entirely Chi-Nameled.

Its location is midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco on the Southern Pacific Railway, six miles from the sea and 1000 feet above it.

The State Highway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, 18 feet wide and surfaced with asphalt, is being built for 10 miles through the estate.

Atascadero is an ideal, made tangible and practical. The first requirement of this ideal is that it shall be the most desirable place in the whole United States in which to LIVE.

In the light of modern understanding this means on the one hand civic beauty, educational facilities, museums, and all city conveniences and attractions; and on the other hand, the privilege to dwell "close to Nature" in the one spot in all California where Nature is most generous and resourceful.

Atascadero consists of a plot of 23,000 acres which are being laid out in 5 and 10 acre orchards or gardens (according to the nature of the soil), building sites, parks, etc. Within its boundaries are located an Industrial Center, and a Civic Center.

The Civic Center consists of administration buildings costing approximately two and one half million dollars; the finest Opera House in the state of California, a large outdoor stadium, golf links, etc.

The Industrial Center will consist of a variety of buildings suited to the various industries, such as steel construction works, canning, storage, dairying and others.

Nothing but the very best in its line is permitted to pass the board of specialists, to whom is intrusted the gigantic task of working out the Atascadero Ideal. No false economies are allowed to blind their eyes to the future's good.

And only because of the severity of standards by which these officials saw fit to measure all Varnish and Paint products, did the Ohio Varnish Company's Chi-namel and Warren Paint products win recognition and final adoption for the Atascadero buildings.

It is to the credit of the management of Atascadero that their buildings are to be constructed of materials not purchased on price-competition, but on results of endurance contests.

It is estimated that the quantity of paint, varnish, stains, enamels, etc., required for the civic buildings and some 4,000 residences will approximate $300,000 worth.

In consequence of this arrangement, purchasers of homes in Atascadero from all parts of the United States, will benefit from the investigations which resulted in this choice.

The floors will be finished with Chi-Namel hammerproof and waterproof varnish, and woodwork will be stained with the clear non-fading Chi-Namel Penetrating Stains.

Bathrooms and woodwork that is white enameled will remain white (not turn yellow like ordinary white enamel) and can be washed freely with soap and water.

Walls decorated with Chi-Namel Dull Wall Enamel and the new Wipe-out Stencil designs, will excel in artistic beauty, and may be cleaned with ordinary soap and water.

The natural color of cement buildings will be changed to beautiful artistic tints and thoroughly waterproofed with Chi-Namel Cementone. And cement floors may be either enameled with Cementone Enamel or with the Chi-Namel Graining System be made to look like varnished hard wood.

Shingles for roofs or siding, when stained with Chi-Namel Shingle Stain will retain their color, will be free from disagreeable odor, and will be insured against decay for many years.

Atascadero, via Temleton, California May 8, 1914.

Mr. F. M. Clapp,
President, The Ohio Varnish Co.,
8604 Kinsman Road,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Sir:
It gives us pleasure to state to you that after quite exhaustive investigations and tests, we have selected your products—particularly your "Chi-Namel" products—for the interior and exterior finishing of the woodwork of the great buildings in the Civic Center at Atascadero, and will also unhesitatingly recommend them to the several thousand people who will build their homes here.

We could not pay you any higher compliment than to choose your products for the Civic Center buildings, as they will be probably the finest single group of civic buildings that have ever been designed or constructed. While there are many buildings costing more money, yet we believe that this is the first time where all of the great civic center buildings of a community of some 20,000 people have been designed and planned and constructed in one superb group, and at the same time having special reference to the topography and surrounding environment. The architects, Messrs. Bliss & Paville, of San Francisco, have created in this group a masterpiece of architectural beauty, and before determining on the paints and varnishes to be used in connection with these buildings, very careful and exhaustive inquiry and tests were made and your products were selected.

We will state in this connection that the six buildings of this group will cost approximately two and a half million dollars.

Very truly yours,
COLONY HOLDING CORPORATION
By E. G. Lewis, President.

Germany Celebrates What is Deemed a Great Achievement—Dutch Brand Attack as Fiendish—Touching Scenes Accompany Sinking of Floating Palace—"Don't Rock the Boat," Warns Senator Stone.

The latest available information indicates that about two-thirds of the persons on board the Lusitania lost their lives.

The number of passengers is given by the Cunard steamship representatives in New York as 1,254, and of the crew as 665, a total of 1,919.

The number of survivors now accounted for is 703. This indicates a death list of 1,216.

Hopes that the list of persons saved may be materially increased were dashed by an announcement from the British Admiralty that all but one of the rescue fleet, which put out from Queenstown, had reported and that there was little prospect of news of further survivors.

Nevertheless, inquiries are being made all along the coast in the hope that other rescues may have been made.

Of the 290 first class passengers it is now believed only 76 were saved.

No word has been received of Alfred G. Vanderbilt and many of the prominent men who were aboard.

By Associated Press.

London, May 8.—1500 persons lost their lives, the British Admiralty estimates, when the Cunard Line steamship Lusitania was torpedoed yesterday afternoon off Old Head Kinsale, on the Irish coast.

The known survivors number only 658, while there were 2,160 souls aboard the great liner when she was attacked.

Of those who were saved 595 were landed at Queenstown, and 11 at Kinsale, while 52 others are reported to be aboard a steamer.

All but one of the rescue fleet of torpedo boats, tugs and trawlers, which went out from Queenstown, have reported.

There is slender hope that fishing boats may have rescued a few more.

In addition to the living brought ashore, the bodies of 45, who died of injuries or were drowned, have been landed at Queenstown.

It has been reported that an armed trawler, accompanied by two fishing boats, has picked up 100 others. Apparently few first cabin passengers were among the survivors.

The United States consul at Queenstown can account for only 51 Americans saved out of 188 who were aboard.

His roll does not include the names of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Charles Frohman, Elbert Hubbard, Justus M. Forman, the author, or Charles Klein, the playwright. Herbert S. Stone, a son of Melville E. Stone, of the Associated Press, has not been accounted for.

Of the Americans aboard, 106 were in the first cabin, 65 in the second and 17 in the steerage.

The heavy loss of life among the first cabin passengers is believed to have been due to the calmness and self possession they displayed in face of danger.

There is no evidence, however, that the time honored rule of the sea, "women and children first," was violated. One of the survivors declares there was no panic among the crew, and that the sailors acted promptly.

Apparently every precaution had been taken against a surprise attack by a submarine.

Difficulty was experienced in launching the life boats because of the heavy list after the vessel was torpedoed. Several of the frail craft evidently capsized. Many of the passengers owe their rescue to life belts.

Investigation has failed to reveal that the steamer was given warning of the proposed attack by the submarine.

The lookouts sighted the periscope of a submersible a thousand yards away. Then came a terrific crash as the torpedo pierced the liner's side, followed almost immediately by another, which littered the decks with wreckage. The course of the liner was at once turned toward shore.

Four torpedoes apparently were fired at the Lusitania, but only two of them found their mark.

The loss of life caused by the torpedoes themselves, and the explosions they caused, must have been terribly heavy, as the bodies taken to Queenstown show evidence of the havoc wrought.

Many of those taken ashore were seriously injured, and many died after they were removed to hospitals.

No event of the war has caused such intense excitement in London. The press of London expresses intense indignation at the tragedy.

WILSON ORDERS INVESTIGATION

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 8.—The United States government will today direct Ambassador Gerard to make inquiry of the German government for its report of the facts concerning the sinking of the Lusitania.

This became known after conferences between high officials.

The ambassador will be instructed to make his preliminary inquiry as a basis for whatever steps may eventually be taken.

High officials privately say the situation was very grave.

88 VESSELS IN WAR ZONE

By Associated Press.

New York, May 8.—Eighty-eight vessels, bound to or from American ports, were today within the German war zone. Thirteen of them were carrying passengers.

THE LUSITANIA

The Lusitania, the sister ship to the Mauretania of the Cunard Line, was 790 feet long and 85 feet broad. She had a displacement of 45,000 tons. The boat was one of the hand-somest and fastest liners afloat and until the Mauretania was launched, held the record for speed.

The Lusitania was built in Glasgow in 1906, at enormous expense. The vessel was pronounced by her builders to be as near unsinkable as it was possible to build a boat. The lower hull was divided into 175 water-tight compartments. Her engines had a horse-power of 70,000, and she had four driving shafts, each carrying a three-bladed propeller.

The vessel was owned by the Cunard Steamship Company, of Liverpool, England, and flew the English flag.

GRAVITY IS FULLY REALIZED

Washington, May 8.—Shocked and appalled by the tragic aspect of the Lusitania disaster, as hourly developments disclosed its magnitude and far reaching possibilities, with a probable loss of 137 American lives, President Wilson and his advisers are waiting for all the facts, and for a crystallization of public opinion to aid in laying out the course the United States will pursue in this latest international complication—the gravest the president has faced since the outbreak of the war.

Nowhere in administration circles is there any disposition to minimize the situation, but President Wilson, while seeking the facts, hopes the country will assume an examining attitude and reserve full judgment until all complete information is at hand.

As more details began coming in activities at the White House and in the executive departments of the government disclosed how much administration officials realized the tenseness of the situation.

Secretary Bryan cabled Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to informally ask the German government for its report of the disaster, and to Ambassador Page at London he sent messages urging renewed efforts to aid the suffering and gather information.

Chairman Stone, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, issued a statement counseling calmness and advising "don't rock the boat."

He pointed out that qualifying circumstances must be taken into consideration because the Lusitania was a belligerent vessel.

ALL GERMANY IS REJOICING

London, May 8.—The Exchange Telegraph Company has received today the following telegram from Copenhagen:

"Berlin newspapers print the news of the sinking of the Lusitania in colossal type, and hail the successful torpedoing of the ship as a new triumph for Germany's naval policy."

"The general impression is that England has got what she deserves."

Paris, May 8.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency says that all of the Turkish batteries in the Dardanelles as far up the straits as the end of the narrows nearest Constantinople have ceased firing and apparently have been destroyed.

NO EXPLOSIVES ABOARD LUSITANIA

By Associated Press.

New York, May 8.—The Cunard Line officers were besieged today with calls for information about the Lusitania disaster.

Among the survivors were D. A. Thomas, of London, millionaire coal operator, his daughter Lady Mackworth and Lady Allen of Liverpool.

A report was denied that there had been any explosives, ammunition or inflammable material on the ship.

The vessel was valued at about $10,000,000, the cargo at about $735,000 and the insurance is said to amount to $7,500,000.

BODY OF FROHMAN HAS BEEN RECOVERED

Queenstown, May 8.—The body of Charles Frohman, the theatrical manager of New York, has been recovered and brought to Queenstown, where it is now being embalmed.

The new German submarines of the largest type carry six torpedo tubes and might do this.

No official statement is ready at this time, but it said the German warnings against sailing in British ships did not obviate the necessity of the Germans giving adequate warning to the Lusitania, a merchant vessel, before torpedoing her, in order that the passengers could have an opportunity to take to the small boats.

Among the passengers were the following: Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt,
Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hubbard, David
A. Thomas, a multimillionaire coal mine owner of Wales; Lady Max-worth, a daughter of Thomas Max-worth, and a few titled passengers; Charles Frohman, John De War and son, Charles Klein, a well known American playwright; fifty-one representatives of Canadian firms supplying England with war material, and at least 100 British reservists, who were going to join the colors.

Survivors of the Lusitania who
have arrived at Queenstown estimate
that only about 650 of those aboard
the steamer were saved, and only a small proportion of those rescued

ALFRED VANDERBILT REPORTED DROWNED

London, May 8.—Some of the survivors who have arrived here report
that Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, American millionaire, was drowned.

FINANCIAL LOSS IS ENORMOUS

New York, May 8.—The tremendous
financial loss incurred by the sinking
of the Lusitania, it is generally believed, will fall upon the Cunard company and the British government. Officials at the company's offices here
estimated the amount of insurance
carried on the liner at sums ranging from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, the general belief being that at the time of the announcement by Admiral Von Tirpitz of the proposed German blockade the British government took over
about 80 per cent of the total amount.
The balance, according to those in touch with the workings of the big
company, is covered by a general
sinking fund established some years
ago by the company, into which a large amount of the company's earnings is put each year.

Queenstown, May 8.—The tug Storm-
cock has returned here, bringing about 150 survivors of the Lusitania,
principally passengers, among whom were many women, several of the crew and one steward. Describing the experience of the Lusitania, the
steward said:

"The passengers were at lunch
when a submarine came up and fired
two torpedoes, which struck the Lusitania
on the starboard side, one forward and the other in the engine
room. They caused terrific explosions.
Captain Turner immediately ordered
the boats out. The ship began to list badly immediately. Ten boats were put into the water and between 400
and 500 passengers entered them.
The boat in which I was approached
the land with three other boats, and
were picked up shortly after 4 o'clock
by the Stormcock. I fear that few of the officers were saved. They acted bravely. There was only fifteen minutes from the time the ship was struck until she foundered, going down bow foremost. It was a dreadful sight."

OHIO MAN WAS ON LUSITANIA

Columbus, May 8.—Edward Bar-
chard of this city was a passenger on the Lusitania, which sank off the Irish
coast.

AMMUNITION IN HER CARGO

New York, May 8.—One of the
items of the Lusitania's cargo was ammunition, valued at $200,024. The
ship carried 5,471 cases of cartridges
and ammunition, according to the ship's manifest. The Lusitania had a cargo of 1,200 tons, which is practically all she could carry. Its value was put at $850,000. Included in her manifest
are the following items: Sheet brass, 260,000 pounds, valued at $45,565; copper, 11,762 pounds, valued at $20,955;
copper wire, 58,465 pounds, valued at $11,000; 349 packages of furs, valued
at $119,220; military goods, 189 packages, valued at $66,221; 89 cases of leather, valued at $31,517, and 342,165
pounds of beef, valued at $30,995.

"ACT OF PIRACY" SAYS ROOSEVELT

Syracuse, N. Y., May 8.—Colonel
Roosevelt characterized the sinking
of the Lusitania as "an act of piracy."
"It seems inconceivable," he added,
"that we can refrain from taking action in this matter, for we owe it not only to humanity, but to our own national self-respect."

U. S. WANTS THE FACTS

Washington, May 8.—It was announced in official circles that no
comment would be made by President Wilson or members of his cabinet on
the torpedoing of the liner Lusitania
until all the facts had been laid before them.

While the United States in its note
to Germany has insisted that before any vessels with neutrals and non-combatants aboard were sunk, passengers must be removed to a place of
safety, no case had risen until the wrecking of the Gulfport last Saturday.

Should any Americans lose their lives the case would be covered, officials thought, by the warning to Germany that she would be held in that event by the United States "to a strict accountability."

HALF THE PASSENGERS ARE REPORTED SAVED

London, May 8.—The American embassy has been informed that about
half of the Lusitania's passengers
have been saved. The embassy has
foundered eighteen minutes after she
was torpedoed.

RETREAT OF RUSSIANS IS BLOCKED

London, May 8.—According to the latest advices from Vienna, strong Austrian forces have cut through to the rear of Russian troops in the
western passes of the Carpathians
and are blocking the retreat of irregular columns. These dispatches claim Austro-German troops have crossed
the Wisloka river, east of the Duna-
jec, and have penetrated south of Jaslo, where the Russians are fighting desperately to escape, pressed on
the rear by Austrians pushing through
the Beskids.

Petrograd advices, however, while conceding a measure of success to
the Teutonic allies, say these claims
are greatly exaggerated. The Russian war office announces a victory in a battle near Stry, in the Carpathians,
farther east than the scene of the
present main battle.

The battle to decide the mastery of
hill No. 60 and the desolated country
around Ypres has not yet reached its final stages.

The first attack of the war on Constantinople is reported in an unofficial dispatch from Athens. It is said three Russian aviators flew over the city, dropping several bombs. The message says also that the Russian Black sea fleet bombarded the Turkish forts
on the left bank of the Bosphorus.
Several Russians shells fell within ten miles of Constantinople.

Reports reaching London from the Pardanelles, while containing no new details of the land fighting, say that
the bombardment by the allied fleet
of the Turkish fortifications is proceeding successfully. Some of the forts at Canak and Kilid Bahr and
probably others on both sides of the straits, up to the narrows, are said
to have been silenced.

Hopes that Italy would settle peacefully her differences with Austria apparently are fading as speedily as
they were revived a few days ago.
The Austrian government is reported to have informed Italy of the extreme concessions it is willing to make, and
the Austrians and Germans in Rome are represented as having lost confidence in a favorable outcome.

The Business Conditions

Notwithstanding the gloomy forebodings for the future and the vigorous denial of the present condition, by the pessimists, business continues to improve everywhere in the nation.

Very slow at first was the progress made toward better business condition but each day during the past six weeks industrial and business conditions have not only continued to improve but each day the "picking up" progress has been in an increasing ratio.

Here in Washington and Fayette county—an agricultural community—but little of the effect of hard times has been experienced. In the cities and in the industrial centers the hardships following business and industrial paralysis, was of course more marked.

Almost every one of the larger cities is now pushing new work, and labor instead of being unsought is in great demand. In almost every manufacturing plant of the land the full force of employees is working full time and the owners are busily engaged making improvements along the line of increasing the capacity in anticipation of an unprecedented demand which they are certain is right at hand.

With prosperity in the cities and bumper crops the good effect of the return of good times cannot fail to manifest itself very markedly in the agricultural communities.

While we have not suffered, in this locality from hard times, yet we are elected to enjoy better times if we can believe the testimony of men who should know and give credence to the evidence which is on every hand.

A Reactionary Measure

Two years ago the law making body of Ohio was of the opinion that national and state elections should be kept separate as far as possible and, acting in accordance with that opinion, the general assembly of the state enacted a law which provided that the national and state tickets should be printed on separate ballots.

The legislature was right in enacting such a law and that law should not be destroyed by the present administration.

The trend of late years has been away from the old straight ticket idea and a progressive people have demanded that everything possible be done to encourage independent voting; that every law and every bit of election formality which tended to make independent voting difficult should be done away with.

There is no reason why the voters of Ohio, at the quadrennial elections, should be handed a ballot four feet long containing under the one party head on the one party ticket every candidate for office to be voted for from president of the United States on down through the state and county. There is no reason why the ballot in these years should be of such formidable size as to almost compel the voters to cast "straight" tickets and thus force the election of state and county officials who happen to be on the ticket of that party whose candidate for president is in popular favor. The issues—national, state and county—should be kept separate and each ticket should succeed or fail on its own record of performance and promise.

The Hulsivett bill now pending in the senate and already passed by the house repeals the law of two years ago and places all tickets on the same ballot.

The Hulsivett law is a mistake and should be defeated in the senate or if passed by that body should be vetoed by the governor.

The enactment of such a law is a step backward. It is a reactionary measure of the most pronounced type. The intelligent, independent voter should be encouraged, not hampered.

Suffrage For Women Inseparable From Attempt to Create a Democracy

By HENRY CROLY, Editor of the New Republic

THE justification for adult female suffrage rests upon substantially the same ground as the justification for adult male suffrage. A plausible argument can be made on the score of political efficiency for limiting the votes of men by some educational or property qualification, but the same argument would also justify the granting of the suffrage to the same classes of women. IF MERE QUALIFICATIONS FOR VOTING ARE TO BE CONSIDERED DECISIVE EDUCATED OR PROPERTY HOLDING WOMEN HAVE A MUCH BETTER CLAIM ON THE VOTE THAN IGNORANT AND PROPERTY-LESS MEN.

But since the advent of democracy the attempt to limit the exercise of the suffrage to people who would presumably use the privilege with discrimination has been abandoned. Almost all men are allowed to vote, partly because class rule is socially disintegrating, but chiefly because the only way to qualify men for political responsibility is to permit them to exercise it. Almost all women should be allowed to vote for precisely the same reason.

Poetry For Today

MOTHER'S DAY.

If you have a gray-haired mother
In the old home far away,
Sit you down and write the letter
You put off from day to day.
Don't wait until her weary steps
Reach heaven's pearly gate,
But show her that you think of her
Before it is too late.

If you have a tender message,
Or a loving word to say,
Don't wait till you forget it,
But whisper it today,
Who knows what bitter memories
May haunt you if you wait?
So make your loved one happy
Before it is too late.

The tender word unspoken,
The letters never sent,
The long forgotten messages,
The wealth of love unspent;
For these some hearts are breaking,
For these some loved ones wait;
Show them that you care for them
Before it is too late.

The United States department of agriculture reports that both long and short staple cotton in California yields 500 pounds to the acre, while in the next best record—that of Missouri—the yield runs 325 pounds of long staple and 295 pounds of short. The price of short staple in California is about the same as elsewhere, but that of long staple is higher than in any state except Florida.

Cheer Up!

Old Trouble is a gloomy scout;
He hates a smile like sin;
Be cheerful, son, and you'll win out,
So don't forget to grin.

Paw Knows Everything.

Willie—Paw, why has a giraffe such a long neck?
Paw—Why, nature gave it a long neck so it could eat from the tops of the trees, my son.
Willie—But why did nature make the trees so high?
Paw—So the giraffe would be able to eat, my son. Now go and play and let me alone for awhile.

Mean Brute.

"You can insult my relatives all you please," said Mrs. Gabb, "but you'll have to admit that my brother is a big man."
"He certainly is," agreed Mr. Gabb. "Between the collar bone and the floor he's the biggest man I know of."

Oh, Very Well!

Said a farmer: "While I hate to blow so, I can sow seeds, my friend, and I know so. The right way to sow is to sow in a row. You must sow seeds just so, not just so so."

That's Right.

"Did Hogan have a big wake?" asked O'Brien.
"He did that," replied Clancy. "They tell me that the house was crowded for three days and nights."

"I never thought that Hogan was that popular," said O'Brien. "Well, it just shows you that a man never knows how many friends he has until they come to his funeral."

Ouch!

Stop! Luke! Listen!

Names Is Names.

A meeting of an unusual nature occurred in the Douglas inn barber shop Saturday afternoon, when Charles Lansdown, a barber at this shop, introduced Frank Sausser, manager of the Western Union telegraph office, to C. N. Cupp, a tobacco salesman, of Columbus.

This was a good combination for a town where no liquor is to be had, so the new acquaintance was celebrated by drinking a portion of coffee, a beverage with which both were acquainted. Luke McLuke, please copy.—Urbana (O.) Democrat.

Our Daily Special

Too much loading kills more men than too much work.

Luke McLuke Says

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who would rather get married than work for a living.

A woman is often a half hour late getting ready to go out because she is in front of a mirror making up for lost time.

When a bartender is in a hurry making change and says to a man, "Did you give me a nickel or a dime?" and the man replies, "I only gave you a nickel," the man swells up with honest pride and wears an expression that says plainly, "George Washington had nothing on me!"

Our idea of a henpecked husband is one who has to eat a bad egg at the breakfast table because he is afraid to tell his wife that it isn't good.

About all the practice in penmanship some men get is when they sign the pledge every twenty or thirty days.

Any red headed girl can look into a mirror and see a wealth of golden tresses.

The wife who leaves her hair in the bedroom dresser and her teeth in a glass of water in the kitchen when she is serving breakfast often wonders why her husband is so much interested in other women.

Some men are so mean that they never quarrel with their wives because it costs so much to make up again.

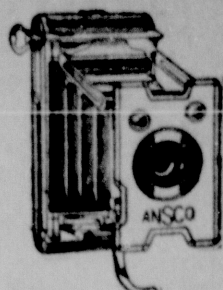

A woman will buy her husband a smoking jacket that looks like a horse blanket with the hives and will get him a little red fox to go with it, and then she wonders why he gets mad when she wants him to sit in his "den" and wear them so she can bring the neighbors in and let them see how happy he is.

For awhile she thinks that he married her because she is all the world to him. But later on she realizes that he married her because he was too durned stingy to hire a valet.

The easiest mark is the fellow who is always bragging that you can't fool him.

Acute Indigestion.

The quickest remedy for the trouble is water. Drink one tumblerful of water after another as rapidly as possible until six or eight have been taken. This method dislodges the irritating substances in the stomach and causes vomiting and instant relief from the pain and intense nausea. After all the undigested foods have been removed lie down and rest and suck pieces of ice until the stomach is comfortable. A little brandy in ice water, a teaspoonful poured over a few pieces of ice, may be slipped every few minutes to relieve the weakness and while waiting for the doctor to arrive.

NEW RAPID FIRE GUN.

Water Cooled Weapon That Has Been Adopted by Uncle Sam.

After a series of tests the United States army has adopted a water cooled rapid fire gun of the type now in use on the European battlefields. The barrel of the gun is incased in a water jacket to prevent its becoming overheated. This is refilled during heavy firing, but when water is not easily available an apparatus is employed which condenses the steam generated in the jacket and allows the water to be used over and over again.

The gun, which is operated by recoil, has a maximum firing speed of about 500 shots a minute, a somewhat slower speed than the air cooled guns in ordinary use, but the water cooled guns are expected to fire a greater number of shots in a long period because of the saving of the time consumed by the air cooled gun in inserting the short feed strips.

The regulation 30 caliber cartridge is employed, and the range is 1,500 to 1,800 yards. Ammunition is fed into it by a belt which holds 250 rounds, the shells being automatically inserted and ejected as long as pressure is exerted on the trigger.

The gun, which weighs ninety-six pounds, is set on a tripod so constructed as to make the weapon available for use against air craft.—Indianapolis News.

COAL AT PANAMA.

Mammoth Storage Plants Planned For the Canal Route.

Coal storing plants of mammoth magnitude are being planned on the Panama canal route. One of the storage plants is to be situated at Cristobal and another at Balboa.

It is planned to have a coal storage basin at Cristobal with a capacity of 200,000 tons and one at Balboa with a capacity of 100,000 tons. In each place the storage will be within a large basin made of re-enforced concrete, in which approximately half of the coal will be stored under water for use in time of war and the other half above water to be added to and taken from continually for the ordinary uses of commercial and government vessels.

It also is planned if the policy should be approved to be able to lease parts of the storage basin to such private coaling companies as may wish to maintain their own coal stores on the isthmus, but in such cases all of the handling will be done by the government plant, a suitable charge being made for the service.—New York Press.

So far as is known, the silo which John Edwards, who lives near Englewood, Kan., is building will be the largest in the world. It will be fifty feet high, fifty feet across and fifteen feet in the ground. When completed it will hold 2,500 tons of ensilage. Mr. Edwards owns 10,000 head of cattle.—Kansas City Journal.

G. A. R. POSTS AND SONS OF VETERANS ENJOY PROGRAM

The Ladies of the G. A. R. achieved noteworthy success in the entertainment at Memorial Hall Friday night, giving to the veterans of the B. H. Millikan and John M. Bell Posts and to the Sons of Veterans one of the most delightful evenings of the year. The pleasure of the guests of honor was shared by a large turnout of citizens.

The program presented one entertaining number after another. Miss Forest Allen, an extremely popular reader, was encored again and again, responding with the utmost generosity, her repertoire chiefly of humorous readings thoroughly delightful. Her first reading, James Whitcomb Riley's "Old Soldier," made special appeal to the comrades.

Miss Allen had brought with her from Milledgeville six little girls, Jane Allen, Hope Cuth, Sylvia Cuth, Olea East, Elizabeth Adams, Iris Coll, who gave a very beautiful fairy drill.

Costumed in airy gauze, with butterfly wings, waving hoops of roses, the little girls were graceful and pretty in folk dances and fancy steps.

A fine male quartet, Rev. A. W. West, Messrs J. H. Hicks, E. H. Burch, Herbert Davenport, sang several times. Their rendition of "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground," following "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," was especially affecting.

A beautiful number was "Annie Laurie," sung by Miss Ada Woodward, with violin obligato by Miss Kneisley, Miss Ruth Reid accompanist. Miss Mary Edge added a brilliant piano solo to the program.

Chaplain Near dismissed the assembly.

Miss Ruth Reid and Edith Worthington acted as ushers, escorting the Posts and Sons of Veterans to honor seats.

The entertainment was under the management of Miss Mary Robinson, president of the Ladies Circle and the entertaining committee, Mrs. Arthur Burgett, chairman.

FORMER LOCAL CITIZEN IS KILLED IN LANSING, MICH.

Clayton Sexton, employed at Ducey's grocery on North street, received a telegram from the Chief of Police of Lansing, Michigan, Saturday morning, stating that Frank Sexton, a cousin, had been killed in that city Saturday morning, and asking that the young man's mother be notified.

The telegram contained no details of the young man's death, but indicated that he had met a violent death.

Mr. Sexton left this city some three years ago, and was employed as a mechanic in the Reo Motor works in Lansing. Prior to leaving this city he was an employee of the chair factory.

A sister, Miss Jessie, a resident of this city, was notified of her brother's death, and left on the morning train to break the news to the unfortunate man's mother, Mrs. Lottie Groover.

The deceased was a former member of Company M., of this city, and has a number of relatives residing in this county. He was a son of the late James Sexton.

MAKING GOOD IN CHOSEN VOCATION

Attorney Levi Shepler.

Attorney Levi Shepler, former well known Fayette county school teacher who is now engaged in the practice of law at Newport, Kentucky, was a business visitor in this city Saturday, and went to Good Hope to spend over Sunday with his mother.

Mr. Shepler is climbing rapidly in his profession in Newport, his marked ability winning him ready recognition.

WASHINGTON HIGH GETS NINE POINTS

Coach McClung's High school athletes secured nine points at the big interscholastic field meet at Wilmington Friday afternoon, ranging comfortably ahead of the tail enders and showing well against the larger schools, which topped out the first places. Fourteen high schools took part in the meet.

Owing to the heavy rain, which continued almost up to the time of the beginning of the meet at 1:15 p. m., the condition of the Wilmington fair ground track, where the track events were to have been held, rendered its use impossible and these events were held on an improvised course on the grass inside the track circle. Even here the ground was soggy and rendered all events difficult.

Chillicothe High school took first honors.

The feature contestant in the local group was Duff, who finished a close second in the half mile. When the tape was reached observers say Duff was by far the freshest runner of the bunch. The winner of this race collapsed at the tape and another some yards from the finish.

Gregg and Johnson did the rest of Washington's scoring which was as follows: Duff, second in half mile; Gregg, third in high jump and fourth in pole vault; Johnson, third in hammer throw and fourth in low hurdles.

POISON WEEDS KILLING CATTLE

During the past few days some eight head of cattle have died on the farm of Mrs. Dill, south of Jeffersonville, as a result of poisoning due to some weed growing along the banks of Paint creek.

The cattle have died in convulsions of the most horrible kind, and their death has led to a careful investigation by a number of veterinarians, with the result that it was agreed that death was due to poison obtained from the deadly weeds along the creek on the Dill farm.

The death of the animals has attracted considerable attention in that community, owing to the unusual nature of their affliction. Steps have been taken to prevent further losses among the big herd on the Dill farm.

DATE SELECTED FOR BIG PICNIC

Wednesday, August 11th is the date of the annual big picnic and field day to be given by the Knights of Pythias, of Bloomingburg.

The event will take place at Rogers' park and arrangements are under way for a better line of attractions and the biggest event of the kind ever held in that part of the county.

RAINS STOP RISE IN PRICE OF WHEAT

That the price of wheat will not make a marked advance for the present, as long as conditions are favorable for the growing crop, is the view expressed by some Ohio grain dealers, and the recent rains have stopped the advance, they claim.

The claim is advanced that lowered priced wheat and flour are not probable for sometime to come.

ANOTHER WILL TAYLOR DISCOVERED IN HOLLAND

Another jumper, who is believed to have a very good chance of rivaling Will Taylor, has been discovered in New Holland in the personality of Joe Monthith, 19, son of Mrs. John Monthith of that place.

Monthith, at the instance of friends, began training at the local Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning under the direction of Physical Director McClung, who trained Will Taylor, world champion leaper hailing from the same neighborhood as Monthith.

Monthith is being trained along the same line as Taylor and takes to the high jump even better than the champion did when he began. He is also going to make some very good marks in the broad jump.

Director McClung unhesitatingly states that Monthith shows all the promise Taylor did when he started training and expresses the opinion that Monthith will develop into a very worthy contemporary of Taylor.

Monthith's ability was first demonstrated in school athletics at New Holland and it was these exhibitions that brought his friends to a recognition of his promise.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

A meeting of the Senior class was held early in the week at which Supt. McClain outlined the commencement exercises. An effort is being made to secure Mr. Glen Frank from North Western University to deliver the class address. The Seniors are practicing the class song for Commencement. This is a good song and quite appropriate to the occasion. It was written by the class poet, Miss Elizabeth Snider.

A great number of High school students attended the track meet at Wilmington Friday. Among those that received medals were Duff, Johnson and Gregg.

The Seniors have chosen for their motto the musical scale—B sharp, B natural and never B flat.

The remaining slabs of the frieze of the Partheon have arrived and will be hung in the assembly hall. This completes the frieze. It was purchased by the three preceding Freshmen classes.

SNAPPY FIELD MEET HELD AT NEW HOLLAND

One of the fastest field meets held in this vicinity recently was that at New Holland Friday afternoon and in which eight Pickaway county high schools took part. Ashville finished first with 35½ points, away ahead of its nearest competitor, Madison township, which finished with 14. New Holland and Atlanta failed to score.

Secretary Walter Patton of the local Y. M. C. A. and Earl Peterson officiated at the meet.

The contests were keen throughout.

out, the work of Patterson, of Commercial Point, and Elbert and Henry of Ashville being the most conspicuous.

The schools taking part and in order of their scoring follow: Ashville, 35½; Madison township, Commercial Point, 12½; Darbyville, 3; Jackson township, 3; Williamport, 3; New Holland, Atlanta.

Eight hundred persons attend the contests which were held on the New Holland high school campus.

BIG BIBLE CLASSES MAY MEET TOGETHER

During a recent visit in this city, Rev. Swinehart, of the men's big Bible class in Greenfield, suggested that the Men's class of Grace M. E. church be the guests of the Greenfield class one Sunday and the Greenfield class come to this city and meet with the Grace church class the following Sunday.

The proposal will probably be placed before the men's local class tomorrow morning and the question decided. The first two Sundays in June have been suggested for the union meeting of the classes.

LICENSE BILL GETS THROUGH UPPER HOUSE

Columbus, May 8.—The McDermott liquor license decentralizer and the Fleming students' voting bill were passed by the senate.

The three Cincinnati senators refused to support either measure and the administration won only by a bare majority. The vote on the McDermott bill was 17 to 15 and on the Fleming bill 17 to 16. Senator Lynch, Democrat, of Toledo, was absent when the vote on the McDermott bill was taken.

The administration was successful only after being able to swing Moore of Jefferson, Wise of Stark and Carson of Muskingum in line. The Stark county solon was the last to break away from the Cincinnati liberals.

Senator Collins succeeded in obtaining the adoption of one amendment, requiring that a saloonkeeper must be convicted twice before his license can be revoked. This complies with the constitutional provision.

Those who voted for the McDermott bill were Archer, Carson, Cass, Gallagher, Garver, Howard, McDermott, Mallow, Moore, Myers, Stone, Tremper, Vollenweider, Vorhies, Wickline, Winans and Wise. The vote on the Fleming student voting bill was the same as on the McDermott measure.

That the McDermott bill will have hard sledding in the house, unless the unforeseen should happen and the Cincinnati delegation line up for it, is conceded by the administration.

Loaded down with amendments, the big Cass highway bill was passed by the house by vote of 79 to 13. The house refused to accept the bill's redistribution of the state highway fund, half to main market roads and half to intercounty roads, but restored the percentages in the present law, 25 per cent to market roads and 75 per cent to intercounty roads.

Amendments were made to make it clear that the highway tax is outside the 15 mill limit, to give state aid to improvement of village streets that are parts of state roads; to increase the salary of the secretary of the highway department from $1,800 to $2,000; to cut out the necessity for approval by the state highway commissioner of the granting of interurban railroad, telephone or other franchise on a state improved road; to limit special assessments to one-third the value of the abutting property, and to require the erection of white painted fences along curves on hill roads.

The official congressional gerrymander, fathered by Representative Sprague of Scioto, was introduced in the house. It would make six Democratic districts, the Third, Fourth, Ninth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Twenty-first, and fifteen Republican districts, with the Twelfth, Franklin county, classed as doubtful. Strong effort will be made to pass the gerrymander next week.

A new civil service bill, bearing the imprint of the approval of Governor Willis, was reported by the joint conference committee, which rejected in toto the Barnes-Moore bill. It is a more conservative measure than the one it supersedes. It puts back under civil service protection the employees of state institutions. Teachers in state institutions, as all teachers, are exempted from the classified service also such employees of the Wooster experiment station as the commission may find it impracticable to classify.

Police and fire chiefs specifically are placed under civil service and are given an appeal from an order of dismissal, both to the city commission and from it to the common pleas court. Every civil service appointee in the state service is given an appeal to the commission. The bill abolishes the tenure of those holding by non-competitive examination, except those who have been in the state service for seven years.

That the McDermott bill will have hard sledding in the house, unless the unforeseen should happen and the Cincinnati delegation line up for it, is conceded by the administration.

PRICES MELTED AWAY ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, May 8.—One of the wildest crashes in the history of the stock exchange, not equaled in lightning suddenness and staggering severity since the Northern Pacific panic of 1901, occurred when Wall street heard the news of the sinking of the Lusitania. Just as suddenly as prices had melted away in the first forty minutes of near-panic atrain, the decline was halted, the tide switched about and a concentrated, confident buying movement started that continued during the remainder of the session. The session closed with half of the losses of the crash made up. Bethlehem steel dropped from 159 to 130, but recovered half its total loss.

Wall street operators are of the opinion that the effect financially of the sharp decline in stock values will not change the decidedly improved fundamentals in the financial position of the country, though it would and should retard the overzealous speculation, especially in the much overdone "war order" stocks that has marked the stock trading of the last month.

Bowser's Bargains

By M. QUAD.
Copyright, 1931, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

It was a quiet evening in the Bowser sitting room, with the family cat purring in three languages and Mr. Bowser lingering over the end of his cigar and reading the paper, when there came a ring at the bell. Mr. Bowser answered it in person, as he was expecting a neighbor to call, and as he opened the door he found a rather seedy, middle aged man waiting to say to him:

"My dear sir, I want a moment's conversation with you on a strictly business affair."

He was admitted in a grudging way, and, bringing a rueful smile to his face and speaking in confidential tones, he continued:

"After fifteen years of hard work I have made a failure in business. I could swindle my customers or go into bankruptcy, but my conscience will not permit me. I wish to pay dollar for dollar. To do so I must sacrifice everything, even to my wife's jewels. Here is a diamond ring which I wish to get rid of and turn the money over to a heartless creditor who would even deprive my children of bread. Will you name a price for it?"

"If it's a straight business failure you are not required to sell the shirt off your back," replied Mr. Bowser.

"But it's a matter of conscience, you see. I said I'd pay a hundred cents on the dollar, and I'll do it if I have to go barefoot. Will you show that ring to your wife?"

Mr. Bowser had been gum game two or three times and was rather suspicious, but he took the ring and walked back to the sitting room.

"Don't buy it at any price!" said Mrs. Bowser, as she looked at it. "It's probably some snide affair, and the man is no doubt a fraud, who thinks to take advantage of your innocence."

"Do you mean that the man takes me for a fool on sight?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser, as he flushed up.

"Oh, you do? That's you to a dot! Always suspicious and distrustful and hard hearted. I shall buy the ring."

"Then you'll be swindled!"

"Not if I know it. I shall simply do my duty by helping an honest man out of a hole."

Mr. Bowser went back to the man and found him very reasonable. All he wanted for his wife's birthday ring was $40, and that was only one-third of its cost. It grieved him to part with it, but what was grief compared to integrity or character? As the tears began to appear Mr. Bowser sent him off with $40 in his pocket and returned to Mrs. Bowser to say:

"How you can steel your heart against the cries of humanity the way you do is a wonder to me. You'd doubtless have turned that poor man away with a stab in the back!"

"And saved $40!" she curtly replied.

"Do you mean that this ring isn't

"I don't believe it's worth $5!"

"Woman, do you take me for a fool?" shouted Mr. Bowser with furious gesture as he danced around and frightened the cat under the piano. "I think I know a man of integrity when I see one. I also think I know a diamond ring from a side of sole leather. By the living jingo, if I had your contemptible spirit I'd go!"

He walked about for a few minutes, breathing hard and perspiring under the collar, and nothing further was said on the subject. The cat gradually recovered her courage, the fire blazed cheerfully, and peace had returned to hover over all, when the bell rang again. Again Mr. Bowser went to the door. It was the man of integrity returned.

"Pray, excuse me," he said as he crowded his way into the hall, "but you were so kind to me about the ring I have returned to show you this watch. I have thought to keep it from my creditors, but conscience stings me. It is a watch that cost me $50, but under the circumstances—"

"Mr. Bowser, will you step here a moment?" interrupted Mrs. Bowser.

He had no intention of buying the

watch. He meant to get rid of the man at once, but Mrs. Bowser's interference nettled him and changed his plans. Turning to the man, he said:

"The watch is well worth $50, and I should be glad to give you that sum to help you settle with your creditors, but I have only $15 in my pocket."

"Then I'll take that," sighed the business failure, with a quiver in his voice. "I want to settle a claim at once—tonight—and I know that I shall have at least cold potatoes for breakfast. It grieves me, but—take it along."

Mrs. Bowser called again, but Mr. Bowser passed over the money, patted the man of integrity on the shoulder and closed the door after him. Then he returned to the sitting room, placed watch and ring on the mantel and sat down without a word. After a quarter of an hour of silence Mrs. Bowser went upstairs to keep clear of any further row, and the expected neighbor came in.

"Look here, Bowser. You've been played for a sucker!"

"It can't be!"

"What if she was or wasn't?"

"I—I wanted to help an honest man. As for the watch—"

"Ha, ha, ha!"

"What in thunder do you mean?" demanded Mr. Bowser as his face kept growing paler.

"I'm thinking of the cheek of the man to come back and swindle you a second time. Say, now, but you are dead easy. This watch never cost over $2! Bowser, old man, you've been lambasted for $55 with your eyes wide open. You'd better let Mrs. Bowser deal with such chaps after this."

"But what does she know of such folks?" protested Mr. Bowser.

"A heap more than you do, I should say, if you are so easily taken in. Well, well, I wouldn't have believed it!"

As the situation was somewhat embarrassing the neighbor didn't stay long, and when he had taken his departure Mr. Bowser sat down to chew the bitter cud. He had been chewing for about twenty minutes and wondering how he could get even with Mrs. Bowser when the bell rang, and he made his way to the door and opened it to find the same business failure on the step again.

"You will excuse me, I know," said the man, "but I have a diamond pin I didn't show you. It is a pin my wife gave me on my fortieth birthday, when everything was going well with us. As it is worth $150 I thought I could easily get rid of it among your neighbors for $30 or $40, but I find that I can't. Your exceeding kindness to me and your desire to help me maintain my standard of integrity led me to hope—"

"Come in!" interrupted Mr. Bowser.

The man entered the hall and opened a pasteboard box to reveal a diamond pin reposing on a nest of red cotton.

"You—you have a diamond pin to sell me?" said Mr. Bowser in a strange, hard voice.

"Yes; I thought to keep it from my creditors, but my conscience won't let me. It is worth $150, but owing to circumstances—"

Then Mr. Bowser jumped on him. The man of integrity was taken by surprise and rolled on the floor, but he soon recovered, and there was a scrap that upset the hall tree, tickled the cat half to death and made the dust fly. It lasted five minutes, and then Mr. Bowser got the door open and "lifted" the man of integrity out into the cold and cruel world and turned to find Mrs. Bowser on the stairs.

"Well?" she queried as he glared at her and puffed like an old engine set going for the fall and winter trade.

"Have you gone out of the jewelry business?"

He slowly extended his arm and shook his finger at her and tried to answer back, but his emotions were too great.

LICENSE BILL GETS THROUGH UPPER HOUSE

Columbus, May 8.—The McDermott liquor license decentralizer and the Fleming students' voting bill were passed by the senate.

The three Cincinnati senators refused to support either measure and the administration won only by a bare majority. The vote on the McDermott bill was 17 to 15 and on the Fleming bill 17 to 16. Senator Lynch, Democrat, of Toledo, was absent when the vote on the McDermott bill was taken.

The administration was successful only after being able to swing Moore of Jefferson, Wise of Stark and Carson of Muskingum in line. The Stark county solon was the last to break away from the Cincinnati liberals.

Senator Collins succeeded in obtaining the adoption of one amendment, requiring that a saloonkeeper must be convicted twice before his license can be revoked. This complies with the constitutional provision.

Those who voted for the McDermott bill were Archer, Carson, Cass, Gallagher, Garver, Howard, McDermott, Mallow, Moore, Myers, Stone, Tremper, Vollenweider, Vorhies, Wickline, Winans and Wise. The vote on the Fleming student voting bill was the same as on the McDermott measure.

That the McDermott bill will have hard sledding in the house, unless the unforeseen should happen and the Cincinnati delegation line up for it, is conceded by the administration.

Loaded down with amendments, the big Cass highway bill was passed by the house by vote of 79 to 13. The house refused to accept the bill's redistribution of the state highway fund, half to main market roads and half to intercounty roads, but restored the percentages in the present

Bowser's Bargains

By M. QUAD.
Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

It was a quiet evening in the Bowser sitting room, with the family cat purring in three languages and Mr. Bowser lingering over the end of his cigar and reading the paper, when there came a ring at the bell. Mr. Bowser answered it in person, as he was expecting a neighbor to call, and as he opened the door he found a rather seedy, middle aged man waiting to say to him:

"My dear sir, I want a moment's conversation with you on a strictly business affair."

He was admitted in a grudging way, and, bringing a rueful smile to his face and speaking in confidential tones, he continued:

"After fifteen years of hard work I have made a failure in business. I could swindle my customers or go into bankruptcy, but my conscience will not permit me. I wish to pay dollar for dollar. To do so I must sacrifice everything, even to my wife's jewels. Here is a diamond ring which I wish to get rid of and turn the money over to a heartless creditor who would even deprive my children of bread. Will you name a price for it?"

"If it's a straight business failure you are not required to sell the shirt off your back," replied Mr. Bowser. "But it's a matter of conscience, you see. I said I'd pay a hundred cents on the dollar, and I'll do it if I have to go barefoot. Will you show that ring to your wife?"

Mr. Bowser had been gum game two or three times and was rather suspicious, but he took the ring and walked back to the sitting room.

"Don't buy it at any price!" said Mrs. Bowser, as she looked at it. "It's probably some snide affair, and the man is no doubt a fraud, who thinks to take advantage of your innocence."

"Do you mean that the man takes me for a fool on sight?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he flushed up.

"Oh, you do? That's you to a dot! Always suspicious and distrustful and hard hearted. I shall buy the ring."

"Then you'll be swindled!"

"Not if I know it. I shall simply do my duty by helping an honest man out of a hole."

Mr. Bowser went back to the man and found him very reasonable. All he wanted for his wife's birthday ring was $40, and that was only one-third of its cost. It grieved him to part with it, but what was grief compared to integrity or character? As the tears began to appear Mr. Bowser sent him off with $40 in his pocket and returned to Mrs. Bowser to say:

"How you can steel your heart against the cries of humanity the way you do is a wonder to me. You'd doubtless have turned that poor man away with a snub in the back!"

"And saved $40!" she curtly replied.

"Do you mean that this ring isn't worth fully $100?" he blustered.

"I don't believe it's worth $5!"

"Woman, do you take me for a fool?" shouted Mr. Bowser with furious gesture as he danced around and frightened the cat under the piano. "I think I know a man of integrity when I see one. I also think I know a diamond ring from a side of sole leather. By the living jingo, if I had your contemptible spirit I'd go!"

He walked about for a few minutes, breathing hard and perspiring under the collar, and nothing further was said on the subject. The cat gradually recovered her courage, the fire blazed cheerfully, and peace had returned to hover over all, when the bell rang again. Again Mr. Bowser went to the door. It was the man of integrity returned.

"Pray, excuse me," he said as he crowded his way into the hall, "but you were so kind to me about the ring I have returned to show you this watch. I have thought to keep it from my creditors, but conscience stings me. It is a watch that cost me $50, but under the circumstances—"

"Mr. Bowser, will you step here a moment?" interrupted Mrs. Bowser.

He had no intention of buying the

watch. He meant to get rid of the man at once, but Mrs. Bowser's interference nettled him and changed his plans. Turning to the man, he said:

"The watch is well worth $50, and I should be glad to give you that sum to help you settle with your creditors, but I have only $15 in my pocket."

"Then I'll take that," sighed the business failure, with a quiver in his voice. "I want to settle a claim at once—tonight—and I know that I shall have at least cold potatoes for breakfast. It grieves me, but—take it along."

Mrs. Bowser called again, but Mr. Bowser passed over the money, patted the man of integrity on the shoulder and closed the door after him. Then he returned to the sitting room, placed watch and ring on the mantel and sat down without a word. After a quarter of an hour of silence Mrs. Bowser went upstairs to keep clear of any further row, and the expected neighbor came in.

"Look here, Bowser. You've been played for a sucker!"

"It can't be!"

"What if she was or wasn't?"

"I—I wanted to help an honest man. As for the watch—"

"Ha, ha, ha!"

"What in thunder do you mean?" demanded Mr. Bowser as his face kept growing paler.

"I'm thinking of the cheek of the man to come back and swindle you a second time. Say, now, but you are dead easy. This watch never cost over $3. Bowser, old man, you've been lam-basted for $55 with your eyes wide open. You'd better let Mrs. Bowser deal with such chaps after this."

"But what does she know of such folks?" protested Mr. Bowser.

"A heap more than you do, I should say, if you are so easily taken in. Well, well, I wouldn't have believed it!"

As the situation was somewhat embarrassing the neighbor didn't stay long, and when he had taken his departure Mr. Bowser sat down to chew the bitter cud. He had been chewing for about twenty minutes and wondering how he could get even with Mrs. Bowser when the bell rang, and he made his way to the door and opened it to find the same business failure on the step again.

"You will excuse me, I know," said the man, "but I have a diamond pin I didn't show you. It is a pin my wife gave me on my fortieth birthday, when everything was going well with us. As it is worth $150 I thought I could easily get rid of it among your neighbors for $30 or $40, but I find that I can't. Your exceeding kindness to me and your desire to help me maintain my standard of integrity led me to hope—"

"Come in!" interrupted Mr. Bowser.

The man entered the hall and opened a pasteboard box to reveal a diamond pin reposing on a nest of red cotton.

"You—you have a diamond pin to sell me?" said Mr. Bowser in a strange, hard voice.

"Yes; I thought to keep it from my creditors, but my conscience won't let me. It is worth $150, but owing to circumstances—"

Then Mr. Bowser jumped on him. The man of integrity was taken by surprise and rolled on the floor, but he soon recovered, and there was a scrap that upset the hall tree, kicked the cat half to death and made the dust fly. It lasted five minutes, and then Mr. Bowser got the door open and "lifted" the man of integrity out into the cold and cruel world and turned to find Mrs. Bowser on the stairs.

"Well?" she queried as he glared at her and puffed like an old engine set going for the fall and winter trade. "Have you come out of the jewelry business?"

He slowly extended his arm and shook his finger at her and tried to answer back, but his emotions were too great.

DUTCH SAY ACT FIENDISH CRIME

Amsterdam, May 8.—"The torpedoing of the Lusitania," says the Telegraph in an editorial, "was a deliberate stage reproduction of the Titanic disaster."

"It was a premeditated crime against a passenger ship on which were 2,500 non-combatants."

"It is no longer outrageous; it has become fiendish. Only the spontaneous joint protest of the entire civilized world, from which Germany has separated herself, can be an answer to this latest provocation."

137 AMERICANS OUT OF 1300 VICTIMS

Queenstown, May 8.—The bodies of victims from the Lusitania are arriving on every incoming boat. The Cunard line warehouse, which is being used as a temporary morgue, already has been filled, and 60 more bodies have been taken to the town hall.

Additional dead lie in hotels and boarding houses, the victims of injuries and exhaustion.

The women landing presented a pitiful appearance. Some were covered only with blankets. Many children were without their parents.

The various craft that yesterday afternoon went out from here to the scene of the Lusitania disaster have reported to Queenstown.

It is now estimated here that 700 will be the outside number of those saved.

The latest rescue boats to arrive are bringing mostly bodies of the dead, picked up from the water at the scene of the disaster.

The dead now here number 124 and many of them are women.

Both men and women rescued haunt the docks, waiting and watching for friends and relatives.

The scene, as the big liner went down, is described by the survivors as heart rending beyond words. Battling for life, the passengers called to relatives and friends and called "good-byes" to each other.

The small boats which had got away from the side of the liner picked up many with life belts or clinging to wreckage, but soon the boats all were crowded. These boats were in turn picked up by rescuing steamers.

In many cases, the only work left for the rescuers to do was to collect the floating bodies of the dead.

ITALIANS SPLIT WITH TURKEY

By Associated Press.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 8.—The Tribune publishes a dispatch from Rome saying the Italian government has decided, owing to the recent uprising in Tripoli, to notify Turkey that it considered void the treaty of Lausanne.

Such a notification, the Tribune says, would amount to a declaration of war.

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

WONDERLAND.

Mary Pickford fans are to be given another chance to see the wonderful little star, in a clever Famous Player feature secured by the Wonderland for next Wednesday afternoon and evening. "Behing the Scenes" is the name of the picture in which Miss Pickford appears in the leading role, and is the revelation its name implies. The play is one of the Daniel Frohman repertoire.

"His Last Dollar," another Famous Player, starring David Higgins, is scheduled for Friday.

Tonight the Wonderland will present its regular Renfex singing pictures, including "Tip Top Tipperary Mary," and "Settled Down in a One Horse Town;" also two of the popular George Ade fable series "The Girl Who Shifted the System" and "The Fable of the Sarcastic Husband and the Lady Shopper," and another of "The Beloved Adventure" series, featuring Arthur Johnson and Lottie Briscoe.

PALACE.

"The Christian," produced from Hall Cain's great book by the same name, will be presented in afternoon and matinee performances at the Palace Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture is a masterpiece, depicting in the true Vitagraph style, with the inimitable team, Earl Williams and Edith Storey, in the leads.

"The Heart of Lincoln," a touching light on the life of the martyred president during the great war, will be shown at the Palace tonight, with Francis Ford, the producer, and Grace Cunard in the star roles.

COLONIAL.

The Colonial has secured a live feature for next Thursday in "The Barefoot Boy," adapted from the famous poem and produced in five parts. Marguerite Courtot and Alice Hollister are the headliners for this attraction.

The usual Keystone program will be offered Tuesday night.

Tonight the Colonial is presenting Gilbert M. Anderson in "Bronco Billy's Judgment" and other Essnay western "Snakeville Blind Pig," together with a Biograph comedy and a vaudeville monologue act by Charles Burns.

GRADUATION EXERCISES GOOD HOPE SCHOOLS

The graduation exercises of Wayne township High school passed off most successfully Friday evening at Wayne Hall, Good Hope.

Three graduates, Ethel Mabel Black, Walter Milton Free and William Ira White, had completed the course with entire satisfaction to the school management and received from the hands of Principal C. F. Klinefelter their diplomas.

A strong class address was delivered by Prof. J. R. Clark, of Columbus. Price's orchestra, of Greenfield, added greatly to the pleasure of the program in fine concert numbers.

The hall was effectively decorated in the class colors, purple and gold, and there was a good attendance.

Mr. John E. Free is president of the Wayne township school board, the other members being Messrs A. N. Peters, Russell B. McCoy, A. B. Clifton and H. H. King.

Calling on Wilson.

The average person who calls on the president is in no hurry to leave, and the less important his errand the longer he takes to explain it. President Wilson listens patiently, although perhaps with little enjoyment; then he gets up and moves toward the door, and it must be a very obtuse person who cannot take the hint, and if something more than a hint is needed then the president shakes hands with him, but it is done graciously and in a way that is flattering to the person who without knowing it is being dismissed.—New York Telegram.

ATASCADERO

The Chi-Nameled City

Atascadero is a Community City, the project of the American Woman's Republic, University City, Mo. of which Mr. E. G. Lewis is Counselor. The city is to be built for approximately 20,000 residents and all the civic buildings are to be entirely Chi-Nameled.

Its location is midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco on the Southern Pacific Railway, six miles from the sea and 1000 feet above it.

The State Highway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, 18 feet wide and surfaced with asphalt, is being built for 10 miles through the estate.

Atascadero is an ideal, made tangible and practical. The first requirement of this ideal is that it shall be the most desirable place in the whole United States in which to LIVE.

In the light of modern understanding this means on the one hand, civic beauty, educational facilities, amusements, and all city conveniences and attractions; and on the other hand, the privilege to dwell "close to Nature" in the one spot in all California where Nature is most generous and resourceful.

Atascadero consists of a plot of 23,000 acres which are being laid out in 5 and 10 acre orchards or gardens (according to the nature of the soil), building sites, parks, etc. Within its boundaries are located an industrial center, and a Civic Center.

The Civic Center consists of administration buildings costing approximately two and one half million dollars; the finest Opera House in the state of California, a large outdoor stadium, golf links, etc.

The industrial center will consist of a variety of buildings suited to the various industries, such as steel construction works, canning, storage, dairying and others.

Nothing but the very best in its line is permitted to pass the board of specialists, to whom is intrusted the gigantic task of working out the Atascadero ideal. No false economies are allowed to blind their eyes to the future's good.

And only because of the severity of standards by which these officials saw fit to measure all Varnish and Paint products, did the Ohio Varnish Company's Chi-namel and Warren Paint products win recognition and final adoption for the Atascadero buildings.

It is to the credit of the management of Atascadero that their buildings are to be constructed of materials not purchased on price-competition, but on results of endurance contests.

It is estimated that the quantity of paint, varnish, stains, enamels, etc., required for the civic buildings and some 4,000 residences will approximate $300,000 worth.

In consequence of this arrangement, purchasers of homes in Atascadero from all parts of the United States, will benefit from the investigations which resulted in this choice.

The floors will be finished with Chi-Namel hammerproof and waterproof varnish, and woodwork will be stained with the clear non-fading Chi-Namel Penetrating Stains.

Bathrooms and woodwork that is white enameled will remain white (not turn yellow like ordinary white enamel) and can be washed freely with soap and water.

Walls decorated with Chi-Namel Dull Wall Enamel and the new Wipe-out Stencil designs, will excel in artistic beauty, and may be cleaned with ordinary soap and water.

The natural color of cement buildings will be changed to beautiful artistic tints and thoroughly waterproofed with Chi-Namel Cementone. And cement floors may be either enameled with Cementone Enamel or with the Chi-Namel Graining System be made to look like varnished hard wood.

Shingles for roofs or siding, when stained with Chi-Namel Shingle Stain will retain their color, will be free from disagreeable odor, and will be insured against decay for many years.

Mr. F. M. Clapp,

8604 Kinsman Road,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Sir:

It gives us pleasure to state to you that after quite exhaustive investigations and tests, we have selected your products — particularly your "Chi-Namel" products—for the interior and exterior finishing of the woodwork of the great buildings in the Civic Center at Atascadero, and will also unhesitatingly recommend them to the several thousand people who will build their homes here.

We could not pay you any higher compliment than to choose your products for the Civic Center buildings, as they will be probably the finest single group of civic buildings that have ever been designed or constructed. While there are many buildings costing more money, yet we believe that this is the first time where all of the great civic center buildings of a community of some 20,000 people have been designed and planned and constructed in one superb group, and at the same time having special reference to the topography and surrounding environment. The architects, Messrs. Bliss & Faville, of San Francisco, have created in this group a masterpiece of architectural beauty, and before determining on the paints and varnishes to be used in connection with these buildings, very careful and exhaustive inquiry and tests were made and your products were selected.

We will state in this connection that the six buildings of this group will cost approximately two and a half million dollars.

Very truly yours,

By E. G. Lewis, President.
